Union's Ouster Stands

Get Rid of Reds, Fishermen Told

REGINA (CP)—The Red-led fishermen's union of British Columbia was denied re-admission to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada Tuesday, but its members were told they could get in by shaking off Communist influence.

Leaders of the 6,000-member union, suspended from the congress a year ago, failed in an appeal to the TLC annual convention against the suspension imposed by the congress executive.

The effect is to open the way for the break-up of the fishermen's union through the congress taking over—by direct charters from the TLC—those divisions of the union that want to get back into the central body.—

INVITATION ISSUED

A recommendation from the TLC officers' reports committee, on which the convention acted, extended such an invitation.

"We would welcome either the whole organization or any division of it willing to abide by the constitution of the TLC," said the recommendation. The constitution has a clause barring unions officered by Communist sympathizers.

The convention action was the latest in a long series of congress moves against Red influence in unions during the last four years. Until its suspension last August, the fish union had been the only major survivor among Red-tinged groups in the TLC.

The most important Red union in the TLC, the Canadian Seamen's Union, was thrown out earlier and since then has almost disintegrated. The right-wing Seafarers' International Union took over.

PLEA FOR REINSTATEMENT

The SIU was accused Tuesday by Homer Stevens, general secretary of the fishermen's union, of trying to muscle in on his organization with the connivance of the TLC executive. He charged TLC president Percy R. Bengough with declaring "open season" on the fishermen after the suspension.

"Double talk," was the veteran Bengough's retort after Stevens made a 35-minute appeal for reinstatement.

Stevens, Labor-Progressive (Communist) Party candidate for Burnaby-Richmond in the last federal election, taxed the congress executive with stifling freedom of political thought and using the tactics of Hitler.

"I don't hear any mention of Joe Stalin," Bengough replied.

The 71-year-old president, who hails from Vancouver, said he is convinced the majority of the fishermen's union officers are believers in the Communist philosophy.

Rumors Persist Engagement Is Close

For weeks rumor has been persistent in Britain that Princess Margaret will soon announce her engagement to Colin Tennant, with whom she is shown here. Though her 24th birthday came and went with no confirmation of the rumors, the belief still persists that they will wed. — (Central Press Canadian.)

Violence Flares Up in Brazil After Suicide of President

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Violence involving both Communist and anti-Communist mobs flared across Brazil yesterday after President Getulio Vargas fired a bullet through his heart when the nation's high military brass forced him to resign.

A number of persons were reported killed by gunfire in Brazil's big southern city of Porto Alegre, and demonstrations crackled through several other cities.

The suicide of Brazil's 71-year-old strong man was an explosive climax to the two-week-long crisis over the murder of an air force major during an attempted assassination of an anti-Vargas newspaper editor.

Police and angry demonstrators were reported to have exchanged gunfire in riots at the Atlantic port city of Porto Alegre, leaving two dead and 26 injured. In Rio, two persons were injured.

REDS SUSPECTED

There were reports that some of the attacks—many of them against U.S. firms or those thought to be owned by U.S. interests — were inspired by Communists.

But there were other reports of attacks on the Communist newspaper Gaucho.

The raging mob smashed into the U.S. consulate in Port Alegre, 670 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro, and damage was reported heavy. Another U.S. consulate at Belo Horizonte in eastern Brazil was reported smashed by a Communist-led crowd.

A crowd of several hundred tried to surge past some 200 troops guarding the U.S. embassy here in Rio.

Cavalry and police fired over their heads and drove the mob back. From across the street, demonstrators hurled rocks and smashed windows.

NIGHT QUIET

As night fell in Rio the demonstrations ended. Armed guards and cavalry continued to patrol the streets.

Rioters accused the United States of fomenting the government crisis that led to Vargas' dramatic end.

At Sao Paulo, mobs attacked shops that refused to close down.

Most places of business in Rio were quickly shuttered.

In the capital, crowds converged around the Senate, where police once fired into the air to disperse them.

One riotous mob turned its ire against Carlos Lacerda, the crusading anti-Vargas editor who was the assassin's target. Offices of Lacerda's newspaper, Tribuna Imprensa, were attacked Tuesday and copies of the paper were burned in the streets.

Lacerda was reported under armed protection.

HOLLOW VICTORY

Vargas' ouster turned out a hollow victory for Lacerda, who had repeatedly demanded the president's resignation.

Lacerda was considered a front runner for the October 3 congress elections, but with the suicide of the widely-popular old strong man, his chances dwindled and he is now considered a liability to his party.

Eisenhower Signs Bill To Ban Communism

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday signed legislation outlawing the Communist party in the United States. He said the measure is a reflection of U.S. determination to smash conspiracies aimed at "violent overthrow of our entire form of government."

The president's action also wrote into law a provision for a crackdown on Red-infiltrated labor unions.

The administration did not ask Congress to enact the Communist outlawry bill, and it had made no secret of misgivings that the legislation might drive Reds further underground.

But Eisenhower, in signing the measure Tuesday at his vacation headquarters here, made no mention of any misgivings.

"The American people," he said in a formal statement, "are determined to protect themselves and their institutions against any organization in their midst which, purporting to be a political party within the formally accepted meaning, is actually a conspiracy dedicated to the violent overthrow of our entire form of government.

"The American people likewise are determined to accomplish this in strict conformity with the requirements of justice, fair play and the constitution of the United States . . ."

Sailors Still Face Naval Discipline

Naval disciplinary action awaits two young deserters sentenced in Vancouver yesterday to six strokes of the strap each and a combined total of 66 months definite and indefinite in prison.

The sentences were handed out to Tony Farrington, 19, and Martin Wise, 17, following the iron-bar beating of a taxi driver in Vancouver last week.

Both men were said to be deserters from HMCS Ontario.

Farrington was sentenced to 18 months definite and 18 months indefinite on charges of robbery with violence and Wise was given one year definite and 18 months indefinite.

Hospital attendants said the taxi-driver, Benjamin Morris, needed 56 stitches to close the wounds on his head. The sailors robbed him of $15.

Morris managed to call over his radio telephone that he had been assaulted and was "bleeding to death."

Case Dismissed After Fiery Plea

SACRAMENTO (AP) — James Henry Stafford Tuesday won dismissal of a careless driving charge against him by presenting a fiery defense.

"My pants were on fire," he told Judge J. Louis Missall, in explaining why his car rammed the back end of another vehicle August 13.

"Case dismissed," said Judge Missall. "I think I would be driving without due caution, too, if my pants were on fire."

Stafford said he dropped a cigarette in his lap while driving and as he was trying to put out the fire, the car in front of him stopped suddenly.

All Records For Halibut Now Falling

SEATTLE (AP)—The International Pacific Halibut Commission reported Tuesday all records for halibut catches on the Pacific Coast are being broken this year.

Landings this year already have reached 68,000,000 pounds, or about 8,000,000 more than landed in all of 1953.

The commission said it expected the catch by November 15, closing halibut date, should exceed 69,500,000 pounds.

This would exceed the 1915 record of 68,750,000 pounds when the fishery was still exploiting virgin stocks in the Gulf of Alaska.

The commission credited its part in controlling the amount of fishing with improving the stocks and making fishing more profitable.

Mao Asks Attlee's Help In Removing U.S. Fleet

Labor Party Leader Meets China's Boss

PEIPING (Reuters)—Mao Tse-tung urged Clement Attlee and his touring British Labor Party group to exert their influence for withdrawal of the U.S. Seventh Fleet from the Formosa Strait, a reliable source said Tuesday night.

In the first face-to-face encounter between Communist China's top leader and any Western statesmen, Attlee and the seven members of the British Labor Party delegation conferred for three hours with Mao in the heart of the ancient walled city of Peiping.

THREE POINTS

Three major points were raised by Mao in the talks, the source disclosed.

Besides withdrawal of the Seventh Fleet, Mao wants the Britons to tell the United States to call a halt to American arming of Japan and West Germany and to relax generally what the Chinese leader labeled unreasonable anti-Communist policies of the United States.

Mr. Attlee and his Labor Party colleagues sat at a long table with Mao and his advisers, sipped bowls of fragrant tea and discussed world affairs.

FIRST AUDIENCE

It was the first audience granted to ranking Western statesmen by the Chinese Communist chief of state since his regime came to power in 1949.

After the talk—climax of the Attlee party's goodwill tour to Red China and Russia—a delegation spokesman, Morgan Phillips, issued a brief statement which said that a variety of subjects "of mutual interest" were discussed. These included the international situation and East-West trade.

"The discussions were very frank throughout and the meeting ended in an atmosphere of cordiality and expressions of goodwill," his statement added.

RETURN VISIT

A well-informed source said before the meeting that Mr. Attlee was expected to mention to Mao the Labor Party's desire to have Chinese and Russian leaders visit Britain. Mr. Attlee was reported to have expressed similar sentiments to Premier Chou En-lai earlier, and to Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov when he stopped off in Moscow on the way here.

Other subjects which may have been discussed include the proposed Southeast Asia defense pact, the status of Formosa and China's desire to join the United Nations.

Mao met them in the reception hall of China Cheng Tien, near the southwest corner of Peiping's Forbidden City, former home of the Chinese emperors.

Place Urged For Layman On Council

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The election of senior officers in the World Council of Churches was delayed until tonight after a move took shape to place a layman among the six presidents.

It was announced at the start of Tuesday night's session that a request signed by more than six delegates had been received and that the signers suggested a layman or laywoman be given a place on the presidium.

Dr. Martin Niemoller of Germany then offered a motion to postpone the election for 24 hours. It was approved, 158 to 146.

His motion had the effect of instructing the nominating committee to restudy its slate with a view to possible inclusion of a layman. It did not order the committee to change the slate.

Laborite Invited To U.S.

SEATTLE (UP)—The World Affairs Council of Seattle yesterday invited former British prime minister Clement Attlee to come to Seattle and "See America too."

The invitation was sent to Mr. Attlee, now visiting in Red China, via British officials at Hong Kong.

Council president Payne Karr said the invitation was sent to give the British Labor leader a chance to "clear the air" around his visit with the Communist Chinese at Peiping.

"Popular concern over British Labor Party attitudes toward Communism makes this an admirable opportunity for gaining first-hand information on matters vitally affecting us," the invitation said.

Karr said a Seattle visit would assure Mr. Attlee an "important platform for promoting better understanding between English-speaking peoples."

Confidence Vote On EDC Avoided

PARIS (Reuters)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France announced Tuesday night that he will not stake the life of his government on parliamentary approval of the six-country European army treaty.

He told newspaper men after a cabinet meeting that his government had agreed not to call for a vote of confidence when ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty comes before parliament Saturday.

This meant, in effect, that Mendes-France would ask the National Assembly to vote on the treaty but would not recommend approval as a government policy.

Mendes-France had spent four hours of crucial discussion with the cabinet on his government's stand on EDC ratification.

After the meeting the premier said, "We must not allow settlement of the EDC question to be delayed any longer."

During the cabinet meeting several ministers threatened to resign. But after Mendes-France agreed to take a neutral stand in the European army debate the rebellious ministers agreed to go along.

The premier told his ministers he will neither oppose nor recommend ratification of EDC when he goes before the National Assembly. He agreed to restrict his role to give the deputies the "fullest information" on the six-country Brussels conference and subsequent high-level talks.

Later he told reporters his government "will oppose any motions submitted to the assembly aimed at delaying a decision" on the treaty.

He said the assembly debate will be taken on a report from its foreign affairs committee, which recommends rejection of the treaty.

French Canada Tour

Royal Party Gets Taste of Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—The Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra Tuesday visited three historical establishments whose origins go back to French colonial times.

In one busy day the royal visitors were able to get a glimpse of French Canada's social, religious and educational institutions in their almost-intact, original settings.

They read old documents, fingered historic relics and tasted Quebec food.

VISIT MONASTERY

The duchess and her daughter visited the 315-year-old Ursulines monastery, lunched with the direct descendents of a French "seigneur" at a manor estate 40 miles southwest of Quebec, and were received at Laval University.

For their engagements Tuesday the duchess wore a white-and-black silk dress and a broad brimmed black hat with black accessories while the princess wore a fawn-colored dress and hat.

The duchess displayed restrained emotion when she was shown her husband's signature in the monastery guest book and asked for a pen. Slowly she wrote out "Marina" under the duke's signature.

The duke died in an air crash August 25, 1942.

SALMON, CHICKEN

Lunch was at the manor of seigneur Alain Joly de Lotbiniere, at Pointe Platon, where 18 guests served by seven domestics dined on Canadian salmon and chicken in the vast dining hall of the century-old manor, located on a 189-square-mile seigneurie created in 1672 by Louis XIV of France.

Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec, chancellor of Laval, greeted the duchess in the university courtyard near the little seminary built by Quebec's first bishop, Monseigneur de Laval, almost three centuries ago.

Duchess, Daughter Begin Canadian Visit

The Duchess of Kent, left, and her 17-year-old daughter, Princess Alexandra, began their three-week visit in Canada at Quebec where Governor-General Massey and a 100-man guard of honor greeted them. It was the first time either had set foot in Canada.—(Central Press Canadian.)

$40,000 Given To Stratford

NEW YORK (CP) — The Rockefeller Foundation Tuesday announced a grant of $40,000 to the Stratford Shakespearian Festival of Stratford, Ont.

The grant, payable to the Stratford Shakespearian Festival of Canada Foundation, is on the basis of $1 for every $2 obtained from Canadian sources.

The Shakespearian festival was inaugurated by Stratford in 1953 with the encouragement of many Canadians interested in cultural development.

Straw Builds Soil Humus

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One of the major problems of the amateur gardener today is how to maintain the humus content of his soil. Farmyard manure is expensive and difficult to come by, and in any case the womenfolk don't seem to care much for the idea of a big pile of manure sitting in the middle of the garden.

Compost is marvellous stuff and certainly there is no excuse for wasting the fallen leaves and grass mowings one accumulates throughout the season but the way an enormous pile of leaves will shrink down through the winter is appalling, and when the time comes to spread the stuff, there is never enough to go around.

Straw seems to be one of the best answers to this problem. Baled straw doesn't take up too much storage space in the garden, and it isn't too expensive, especially if you buy it in lots of five or six bales at a time.

Sometimes it is even possible to secure a load of spoiled straw just for the cartage charges, and this is just as good for our purpose as the good stuff.

FERTILIZE FIRST

Straw is especially good where small fruits are grown. It is applied in the winter or early spring, whenever the gardener can find the time, and spread to a depth of about nine inches around and among the bushes. It is best to put down a good dressing of fertilizer first, at the rate of one cupful to a square yard.

As a result, there will be no digging to do through the winter, and no hoeing to carry out in the spring. It is almost a no-digging proposition. The result of this mulch is that the [illegible] the worms are able to work properly, and the earth becomes matted with fibrous feeding roots right up to the surface.

Black currants are especially appreciative of this treatment, and, in fact, they push ahead so fast that extra-severe pruning becomes necessary. The idea works well, too, with raspberries, logans, and red and white currants.

LATER CROP

With gooseberries, while the heavy straw mulch is just as effective in promoting good growth, it does have one disadvantage—the berry crop comes a bit later than on unmulched land if the straw is spread during the winter. This late cropping is obviated if the mulching is delayed until early May.

The effect of this straw treatment has to be seen to be believed. It makes working among the bushes far cleaner. The muddy-boots problem is solved. It makes picking and pruning a pleasure, and the straw gradually disintegrates, making it possible to give a further application the following season.

I am convinced that many of the nutritional problems we encounter with small fruits automatically disappear when the humus content of the soil is held at a high level, and the easiest way to accomplish this is to work more and more straw into the soil.

City Man Supports 'War' on Drivers

NANAIMO—A Victoria man has thrown his support behind Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts in his crack-down on traffic-law violators.

The magistrate read a letter to the Kiwanis Club here yesterday from A. F. Davies, [illegible] General Robert Bonner.

Mr. Davies said any encouragement which can be given law enforcement officers who are endeavoring to cope with the problem of traffic violators would have the whole-hearted support of every genuinely responsible person in B.C.

VICTORIAN FINED

Magistrate Beevor-Potts last week fined W. B. Botterill, 21, of Victoria, $150 and 30 days in jail, following a conviction on charges of failing to remain at the scene of an accident, dangerous driving and driving while his license was under suspension.

"I'm tired of this type of offense coming before me," the magistrate said at the time.

The letter to the attorney-general was apparently prompted by the recent traffic chase on the Mainland which resulted in the wounding and eventual death of a young airman.

"It will be unfortunate, however, if this occurrence results in an increased, unrealistic sentimentality concerning the handling of serious traffic offenses," Mr. Davies stated in his letter.

OLD-FASHIONED IDEA

"There are still a number of private citizens and public officials who cling to the old-fashioned idea that reckless driving is merely a trivial misdemeanor to be treated casually," the letter continued, "despite the fact that all statistics show traffic speed is one of the most lethal menaces of our time and one which is responsible for killing off people at a rate not reached by [illegible] war . . .

"Any person who deliberately drives a car at high speeds on public roads is a potential killer, almost a potential murderer, since the widespread publicity in recent years has left no doubt in anyone's mind as to the possible fatal consequences of such action . . ." the letter stated.

Mr. Davies has spent many years in youth work, said the magistrate.

Geoffrey Chaucer, the first poet-laureate of England, was paid in wine grants.

Saanich Substation Battle Set To Resume Tuesday

A public hearing on rezoning of 3.2 acres of Shelbourne Street property for a $1,000,000 B.C. Electric Co. substation will be resumed Tuesday, Saanich [illegible] yesterday.

The hearing was adjourned earlier this month on a councillor's suggestion that information be obtained on how much it would cost the company to place transmission lines underground.

Clr. L. H. Passmore said he felt the cost might be apportioned to municipalities served by the substation.

Monday it was suggested by a council committee that the Public Utilities Commission be approached for guidance.

Answers may be known by the time of Tuesday's hearing to these questions asked by acting reeve George Austin:

(1) Can the municipality prevent overhead power lines being erected in the municipality?

(2) Will the PUC supply an independent engineer to investigate costs of an underground transmission line?

(3) Can the PUC suggest the best method of arbitrating the [illegible]

The company had stated earlier it would cost about $1,000,000 additional to place underground lines for the substation, which is expected to improve service to Gordon Head and Ten Mile Point and [illegible] expansion of the area.

Fire Chief's Absence Postpones Settlement

Efforts to reach a compromise settlement in the dispute between the municipal council and volunteer firemen in Central Saanich were delayed yesterday when a special meeting was postponed for approximately a week.

The council's fire committee was to have met the executive of the fire department to discuss the firemen's opposition to a proposed shift of fire-inspection duties from Fire Chief V. G. Heal to the municipal inspector.

The firemen have also complained about lack of new equipment. The chief has threatened to resign if the matter is not settled by September 15.

CHIEF AWAY

The meeting was postponed at the request of the firemen because the chiefs is in Penticton, attending the annual B.C. fire chiefs' convention.

Last week, the chief, Reeve Sydney Pickles and Clr. R. M. Lamont, chairman of the fire committee, said they felt a compromise would be reached.

There had been rumors of a mass resignation by the department should the chief go, but that step is now considered unlikely.

Visitor Here To Discuss Air Gathering

Visiting Victoria to drum up interest in the forthcoming 18th annual convention of the International Northwest Aviation Council is William A. Rundle of Vancouver.

More than 300 delegates will attend the convention September 19 to 21 at Vancouver Hotel, says Mr. Rundle, council secretary.

He stressed that the meeting is open to all those interested in development of aviation. Yesterday he discussed the gathering with members of the government and city council.

"If Victoria shows enough interest there is a possibility that the convention might be held here next year," he said.

Aviation experts from all over Canada and the United States will be present at the convention. Speaker at the opening banquet will be Igor Sikorsky, helicopter pioneer.

Accused Gets Week Remand

A one-week remand on a charge of murder was granted when Peter Bordenuik, 55-year-old Alert Bay fisherman, appeared in police court Monday at Vancouver.

Bordenuik is charged in the murder of Anne Plesko, 55, a rooming-house operator, in the small Vancouver Island community, August 14.

Book-Carrying Bags Ordered

A shipment of 1,000 brown paper bags especially made for carrying books has been ordered by the Victoria Public Library board on an experimental basis.

The board plans to sell the bags for a few cents apiece as an additional convenience for patrons.

The bags are being ordered from the eastern United States and if they prove successful an attempt will be made to interest local firms in their manufacture.

Case of the BAD BROTHER

BY PAUL FAIRMAN

(Copyright, 1954, Paul Fairman. Illustrations copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.)

Larry turned off the boulevard and moved into one of those seedy neighborhoods that always skirt the better sections of a city. It was the abode of transient people who never sign leases and seldom leave a trail.

He walked until he came to a yellow apartment building of slightly better appearance than its neighbors. He glanced up and down the street, passed the first of two doorways and faded from sight through the second.

The lobby had been painted in one solid color—the yellow of an overripe egg—so the decorators wouldn't have to mix different kinds of paint. The stairs were carpeted in dark red.

Larry climbed two flights of them and walked dow na long, quiet hall.

At a door marked 309, he stopped and put his ear to the panel. No sound. He tapped it lightly with the knuckles of his left hand. The stillness got thicker. He rapped harder and waited. Nothing happened. He took a ring of keys from his pocket, thoughtfully selected one. He put his lips close to the panel and said, "I'm coming in, Joe." He unlocked the door and went inside and closed it behind him.

The place was like 10,000 other kitchenettes around town. It was sparsely equipped in an economy of space, the sink and stove behind one double door, the bed behind another. The furnishings were the kind you buy in any second-rate used-furniture store. But this one had something you couldn't go out and buy—a young man standing in the middle of the room with a .45 automatic in his hand. The automatic was turned on Larry's stomach.

Larry stood still, his hands in the pockets of his top coat. He looked steadily at his brother.

Joe had carrot-red hair, uncombed. It split down the middle and hung to his ears on either side. A red two-day bristle extended down his thin jaws, and covered a sharp chin, framing a weak, slightly twisted mouth. His eyes were light blue, the whites bloodshot from lack of sleep. He wore a faded blue shirt, opened at the neck, the right side hanging out of unpressed brown slacks. He needed a shine.

Larry took one hand from his pocket and rubbed it slowly along the edge of his jaw. He was remembering again:

A Sunday when he sat between his mother and father in church, and watched a couple of dozen Botticelli angels march up the aisle toward the altar. He remembered the soft look on his mother's face when Joey walked solemnly by carrying a yellow candle on that confirmation day. There was something golden in that memory.

Larry moved slowly forward toward his brother and said, "Put that gun down, Joey, or I'll beat your brains out with it."

Joe didn't move. His fingers worked nervously. "You're not taking me in, copper. I'll blow a hole straight through you. And I ain't kidding."

Larry's face went deadpan. "Through the back, maybe, or riding a bicycle."

Joey snarled. "That was an accident. You know I didn't shoot the kid on purpose."

"So do a million other people. Everybody with a radio knows all about you, Joey. You're a very popular guy tonight, and from now on."

Joe said, "Stand back! How did you know I was here, anyway?"

Larry kept on coming. "Simple. You haven't got the brains to go anywhere else. You'd stay here until the law came after you or Nick Carozzi evened things up with a tommy gun."

Joe's eyes widened and his voice went a little high. "I ain't kidding. I told you. Don't come at me. I don't like guys coming at me."

Larry took two more steps and reached out slowly. He wrapped a hand around the barrel of the .45 and turned it toward the ceiling. He slammed the open palm of his other hand against the side of his brother's face. The sound was like a dull pistol shot.

Joe staggered back. He gave out a short, strangled scream, and leaped at Larry, like a cat diving at a tree trunk.

Larry caught him, lazily, by the front of his shirt, and held him hard for a moment. Then he shoved, savagely. Joe went backward, across the room. He hit the lounge and collapsed on the cushions.

Larry tossed the gun into a corner of the room. "Who put you on Fats Polichek?" he asked.

Joe grinned crookedly. "Always the copper. Always snooping around. Fats had on a red necktie. I don't like red neckties. I plugged him."

"Don't answer like that when they put you under the lights," Larry returned, dully. "Some cop'll slap you through the wall."

Joe said, "Nuts!"

Larry's face suddenly changed, as though it had been ripped and twisted by the slash of a whip. When he spoke, his voice was a cry in his throat.

"Why couldn't you stick to your penny-ante rackets? What was wrong with the slot machines and the horses and the two-bit poker games? Why did you have to take a gun and go out and kill somebody? I had money if you needed it."

Joe sneered comfortably. "You and your kind of dough make me sick."

For a moment Larry stood perfectly still, his hands tight at his sides. Then he deliberately turned his back on Joe and walked out of the drab apartment to the boulevard where he hailed a cab; rode east, picked up his car and drove to Jack's Bar on Madison Street.

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet news agency Tass yesterday reported the arrest of five "Syngman Rhee and American spies" in the Kenson province of Communist China. Quoting a message from the North Korean news agency, Tass said all five prisoners had been trained at a special "spy school." It added that another "spy" working for American intelligence had been arrested by the Chinese authorities in the district of Kephun.

Government Plans Overhaul Of Unemployment Insurance

REGINA (BUP) — Labor Minister Milton Gregg announced yesterday that legislation was under study by the government to broaden the scope of the national unemployment insurance program.

Gregg told the 69th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada the [illegible] the legislation at the next session of parliament. He said it would be designed to make unemployment insurance "a more effective instrument of social policy."

Gregg addressed the convention yesterday as delegates got down to serious business, with unemployment and dumping high on the agenda. The organization is also slated to choose a new leader.

The labor minister referred to last winter's post-war record unemployment in his speech. He said the losses had been "significant," but emphasized that the future "has seldom been brighter than it is today."

MONEY MOVING

Business investment appears to be continuing at a record rate, Gregg told the convention, and Canadians are spending money on consumer goods and services at a higher rate than ever before.

In spite of the fact that the level of employment was lower than a year earlier, the total labor income in May was "higher than ever before in our history for this time of year," Gregg said.

"For persons who are unemployed, the existence of unemployment insurance has been valuable, not only to themselves, but to the economy as a whole, since it helps to fulfill the vital task of maintaining the level of purchasing power," Gregg said.

"I might say in this connection that, at the present, our unemployment insurance program is under study and we hope to bring legislation in at the next session of parliament, with a view to making it a more effective instrument of social policy."

Gregg Decries Force

REGINA, Sask. (BUP) — Labor Minister Milton Gregg said Tuesday the federal government "dislikes the idea of compulsion" in settlement of labor disputes such as the recent railway strike threat.

Gregg was addressing the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

In the audience were many of the leaders of the 14 unions which had threatened to strike in order to enforce their demands for fringe benefits for their 145,000 members.

The unions, representing non-operating employees of the CPR, the CNR and two Ontario railroads, accepted voluntary arbitration under protest after the government threatened compulsory arbitration.

Gregg praised Frank H. Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee for the 14 unions, and other union leaders for the way they carried out "a most difficult effort."

Television With 3-D Shown Off

LONDON (Reuters)—Three-D television made its world debut here Tuesday.

Reporters wore polarized glasses for the three-dimensional showing. They saw TV announcer Avis Scott enter a studio. The smoke from her cigarette seemed to curl right out from the screen.

It will be some time before TV-in-depth is developed for home viewers, but the government expects to be able to make use of it for atomic research.

"It is known that experiments on similar lines have been going on in the United States," an official said, "but I believe they have been secretive about them because of the value to atomic energy research."

A spokesman for Britain's department of atomic research said, "We already use TV for research which cannot be watched by the naked eye. Three-D with pictures in depth opens up new fields."

Two cameras are used, one representing the right eye, and the other the left. Two images —one vertical, the other horizontal—are fed to the TV sets.

'Bullet Hole' Made by Nail

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Rosario Fontaine, who performed an autopsy on the body of Allen Paul Richards, said Tuesday "incomplete tests" indicate the English-born scientist died an accidental death and was not the victim of foul play.

Richards, 36-year-old guided missile expert, died Saturday three days after being found unconscious on the grounds of the Quebec lieutenant-governor's home.

Dr. Fontaine, Quebec's top medico-legal expert, said a hole on Richards' chin, resembling an entrance wound of a bullet, turned out to have been caused by a nail or some similar object.

Death resulted from a brain haemorrhage, probably caused by a fractured jaw.

Pangolin Wears Portable Armor

A survival of the age of reptiles is the giant pangolin, a rare African animal. George R. Carroll, left, who captured it, is helping Ivan Sanderson, naturalist of the Rare Jungle Zoo at Columbia, N.J., induce the creature to drink. The pangolin weighs 80 pounds and like an armadillo, curls up into a ball when attacked. Thick, sharp scales usually discourage other animals from attempting to make a meal of the pangolin.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Tangled Love Life Outlined in Court

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (Reuters)—The tangled love life of the mother of a 15-year-old Juliet Hulme, accused with her girl friend of murder, was described in court here Tuesday.

Mrs. Hilda Marion Hulme, wife of a former British admiralty official, admitted she had discussed a divorce as a result of her affections for her next-door neighbor, civil engineer Walter Perry.

Perry testified he was in love with Mrs. Hulme and that her husband was aware of it.

He said Juliet once discussed blackmailing him after she found him with her mother.

Juliet and 16-year-old Pauline Parker have been accused of murdering Pauline's mother. The defense said it would show both girls were mentally ill at the time.

Psychiatrist Dr. R. W. Mediticott said the two girls had "their own paradise, their own god and religion and their own morality." He said they suffered from paranoia.

Latin Lover To Lose Last Love

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The "Woman in Black" appeared dressed in white at the crypt of Rudolph Valentino and said she will cease the annual visits she has been making since 1926.

Ditra Flame said Monday at memorial services for Valentino, "This is my last visit to the shrine." She added that a promise made to a friend 28 years ago had been fulfilled.

Each year Miss Flame, dressed in black, has placed red roses in two vases at the crypt and helped conduct the services for the Latin lover of the silent movie days.

TORONTO (CP)—Major-Gen. John Rockingham will formally take over command of the recently created 1st Canadian Division in a ceremony at Camp Petawawa on September 1.

General Rockingham will be honored by divisional headquarters and artillery units when he takes over Canada's first peacetime division.

Reds Charge U.S. Agents Used Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Russia has protested U.S. activities in the defection of Yuri A. Rastvorov, Soviet spy now in American hands, U.S. state department officials disclosed Tuesday.

A Russian note denounced American intelligence agents, who persuaded Rastvorov to defect last January, for allegedly committing an act of violence against Rastvorov.

Rastvorov was disclosed to be in American hands two weeks ago. He announced he had deserted because "I wanted to live like a decent human being."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Australia Monday officially asked the UN General Assembly to consider applications of Laos and Cambodia for membership in the UN at the assembly session opening September 21. The Soviet Union vetoed previous applications by the two French associated Indo-Chinese states.

Cold Protection Indicated

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)—More than 200 workers in a Johannesburg clothing factory claim that for the last five years they have been free from the common cold.

Scarcely an employee has been absent from work because of influenza or chest complaints. The workers appear to have become immune to these ailments.

The reason is believed to be that they work with a rayon material which is processed in a formaldehyde solution to make it crease-proof. The chemical appears to protect them from disease.

A leading Johannesburg physician is urging further investigation. Formaldehyde solutions have long been used as sterilizing agents for medical instruments.

Golden Gate May Yield Real Gold

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Marine divers will search the ocean floor outside the Golden Gate next fall for $30,000,000 in gold believed to be on board a ship which sank 66 years ago.

A. P. Settle of the Settle Salvage Company will direct the operation. Settle, of Oakland, was a diver for another salvage company in a 1948 attempt to find the ship. That company abandoned the search.

The ship, the City of Chester, was heading for San Francisco Bay when it collided with the British steamer Oceanic in 1888 and sank.

DETROIT (AP)—Workmen cleaned out a wishing well at the Detroit Institute of Arts Monday and found $1,200.00 in small change. The well was placed in the lobby several years ago when institute officials sought to discourage visitors from tossing pennies in a fountain exhibit. The money will be used to purchase new exhibits for the museum.

Double Murder, Suicide

Shilo Passion Slaying Claims Two Men, Girl

BRANDON (CP)—A young girl and two soldiers were shot to death Monday night at Camp Shilo in what police described as a double murder and suicide. The girl's father blamed jealousy on the part of one soldier for the triple slaying.

The victims were Yvonne Hamer, 16-year-old daughter of a corporal in the Royal Canadian Engineers; Gnr. William James Gilbert Barager, 22, of Toronto, and Spr. Ronald Bage, 28, of Rockwood, Ont. Police said Bage was believed to have shot the girl and Gnr. Barager then turned the .303-calibre rifle on himself.

SIDE BY SIDE

The bodies of the girl and the young soldier were found lying side by side, both shot through the chest. About 10 minutes later, another shot was heard and the 28-year-old soldier, critically wounded in the chest, was found lying in a nearby barrack block. He died within an hour.

The girl's father, Cpl. Edgar W. Hamer, said the older soldier was "crazy" about his daughter and "I guess he could not stand seeing her with someone else."

Yvonne was described as a "very good-looking, petite brunette."

Master Road Plan

IF British Columbia is not to waste its money in the next 100 years to the same degree it has done in the first century of its road development, a master road plan should be laid down and adhered to with far more faithfulness than has often been the case in the past. Every government in office and every chief engineer while charged with the responsibility of the undertaking has come up against the practical and the political difficulties of the situation.

The practical difficulties reduce themselves to money—and there has seldom been enough of it made available for a thorough-going job on the trunk roads system.

The political difficulties include area competition between one section of the province and another; the pressure of industry to have access roads opened for it at the expense of the taxpayers; and the 41-way-stretch on the provincial public works dollar by reason of the activities of legislative members, urged on in turn by their vociferous constituents.

The resultant of these two forces—practical, political and ever-present—has been sufficiently strong in most of the past to break up whatever master road plan British Columbia was able to conceive. That has happened time after time with dismal results on the ground and in the record. The late Ernest Crawford Carson, former minister of public works in the Coalition regime, broke through the vicious cycle with considerably more success than had rewarded at least the majority of his predecessors. He came out flatly for a trunk-road system; one in which British Columbia would stop dumping its road dollars in 41 electoral heaps, and start straight-line projection of the few trunk roads that have been begun until they were completed.

One of the examples that could be cited from the past was the 40-odd years it took to complete the Hope-Princeton highway. There are others. Even in this day the Trans-Canada Highway has not been nearly finished in British Columbia. Vancouver Island has the rudiments of a trunk road system, with an east-coast route, a few unfinished laterals and little else. Elsewhere, in all save the densely populated parts of the province where roads became a daily necessity, the situation has remained unchanged.

It is against that background that the issue of building access-roads to one or other sections of British Columbia's productive areas must be viewed. To the mining camp or the softwood stand the access-road is, of course, the first step; but mining camps are not located in any fixed pattern, and the province's remaining mature forests are becoming localized. Such development can stand on its own, but it cannot contribute much to the trunk road system of British Columbia because its incidence is wholly haphazard.

What this province needs for the long pull is a definite road system, a master plan which should be laid down and agreed upon within the next few years and then worked at without deviation for a good long while to come. If that course were followed every highway dollar spent by the taxpayers would perform a dual purpose: satisfy the needs of the present, and leave something over to carry forward to the future. Road maintenance then would become easier, and the waste and overlapping would be curtailed considerably. There is an opportunity here for the present government to take the decisive step on a master plan.

The Oakalla Jail-Break

THE apparent ease with which a notorious criminal, Clifford Dawley, made his escape from Oakalla Prison Farm on Monday is bound to raise doubt in the public mind about the adequacy and effectiveness of measures to guard prisoners there. Dawley is no ordinary prisoner. He is a man with a long record of crimes of violence, is officially described by the police as "dangerous," and at the time of his jail-break was serving sentence for a previous escape from custody. In all these circumstances one would have expected the prison authorities to have doubled their vigilance to make sure that he could not get away again. Yet Dawley seems from all reports to have had little trouble in eluding his guards.

Because of this apparent laxity there has been public alarm over a wide area of the province, including Vancouver Island. Police officers in all areas where it was possible Dawley might be hiding had to be diverted from their normal duties to embark on a manhunt, at heavy public expense as well. Travelers at many points were put to the delays and inconveniences of negotiating roadblocks. All these emergency measures became vitally necessary as soon as it was known that a dangerous criminal was loose. None of them would have been necessary if custody at Oakalla had been efficient.

A routine inquiry no doubt will be made into the circumstances which made this escape possible. Whatever the findings may be, the public will look to the attorney-general's department to institute controls at Oakalla strong enough to hold men of Dawley's known proclivities.

Imperial Veterans Benefit

FORMER servicemen from the United Kingdom living in Canada or elsewhere outside the British Isles who were prisoners of war in Japan during the last conflict will be eligible for the second disbursement to be made by the British Government from the sale of erstwhile enemy assets. Sums amounting to £20 with a range of subsidiary benefits may accrue in many instances, under a more liberal plan of recognition for the hardships endured. As numbers of these veterans have since come to Canada and may be out of touch with the scheme they would be advised to get into contact with official channels.

Victoria has not forgotten the men who passed through this city on their way home after untold hardships in Japanese prison camps. Their health had been much affected. They responded with warmth to the least show of kindness or civil attention after their long ordeal. For the most part they went back to their birthplaces, but not a few veterans later emigrated. The British announcement this week stated that servicemen in this category would be eligible for the second awards, and in some instances also their dependents where families had been interned in the Orient. Application can be made directly to the Canadian representative of the British Ministry of Pensions, at Molot Building, 168 Charlotte Street, Ottawa.

While the sums involved are not large, the second disbursement may help numbers of veterans living abroad who could do with the money. They earned it the hard way.

Interpreting the News

France Warned of Danger

By PAUL SCOTT RANKINE
Reuters Correspondent

THE statement of State Secretary Dulles Tuesday is seen in Washington as a realistic warning to France of the danger of French isolation resulting from failure to ratify the European Defense Community Treaty.

The statement was the latest and probably the last public effort of the United States administration to persuade the French government to support fully—and the French National Assembly to ratify soon—the EDC treaty signed by France in 1952.

Dulles placed the responsibility squarely on France for the failure of the Brussels conference. This he did by expressing regret that "France did not decide to agree" with the other EDC signatories on the treaty.

* * *

He aligned the U.S. with the other signatories whom he praised for standing firm by basic principles of the EDC.

He pointed out that the alternative to French ratification of the treaty was that France would "stand apart."

That Dulles should have issued such a statement, obviously designed to influence votes in the French National Assembly, was in itself a clear indication that the Eisenhower administration has not yet written off EDC completely. Dulles reiterated at his press conference that he still hopes for ratification, although this does not mean that he necessarily expects it.

* * *

The hope in official circles here is that there will be a shift in assembly opinion in favor of EDC if the members can be made to realise the catastrophic effects for peace, security and unity in Europe if EDC is not ratified.

This reflects the kind of thinking and strategy which frequently characterizes U.S. state department efforts to persuade Congress to enact foreign aid programs or ratify treaties. It remains to be seen whether this strategy will be as successful with a French legislature.

* * *

Dulles refused to be drawn into a discussion of what the U.S. would do should France not ratify the treaty.

For the present, the "agonizing re-appraisal" of U.S. policy toward a Europe without EDC is in suspense "as France confronts the ultimate decision."

Optimism on The Lakes

By RAYMOND MOLEY

NEW YORK—Now that the St. Lawrence Seaway is approved and beyond controversy, the ports on the Great Lakes are facing the many problems that lie before them. I found during a visit to some of the cities along the lakes great optimism tempered by a serious acceptance of the many tasks that still lie ahead. It is the realization of a great dream—a very old dream renewed from time to time and interrupted by many a harsh awakening. It was regarded as a glittering possibility as long ago as the beginning of this century. But wars, depressions, and the clash of many interests checked definitive action by Congress.

* * *

It is probable that the balance in its favor was tipped by several circumstances. First, there was the opening of new sources of iron ore, that life blood of the North Middle West. As the Mesabi and other fields in the Superior region began to fade, the interests of Cleveland and other lake cities turned toward Labrador. Indifferent support turned to almost desperate advocacy of a seaway. There were also the tremendous requirements of the cold war, and a new appreciation of what a hot war might mean to the United States economy. As the peril to industrial centres was becoming more obvious, Canada was growing to major proportions as an industrial and commercial nation.

Canada practically drew the issue. Either we would participate or she would go it alone. Eisenhower proposed, and for once Congress disposed.

* * *

There can be little doubt about the benefits to a city such as Cleveland. Its variegated industries already sell a goodly percentage of their products abroad. Every industrialist with such markets anticipates substantial increases. Buffalo, Toledo, and Chicago also will benefit in that way. Detroit's interests abroad hardly need to be mentioned.

The shipping from Labrador alone in vessels designed for lake commerce and ocean-going ships made over will be very considerable. Competition for this rich commerce will be keen among the lake ports. Plans are already under way in such smaller ports as Ashtabula for new docks and other accommodations for commerce. Cities are creating study committees to draw up plans and to promote large harbor improvements.

Some of the more restrained of the promoters of the seaway in these cities are offering important and, if heeded, wholesome suggestions. One is that trade is a two-way affair. There is plenty of prospect that a much greater volume of American goods will be going abroad than before. But what are we going to take in our markets of foreign goods in the returning ships? How far from the lake ports will the influence of this new commerce extend?

The answer is that it will not be so far as some of the optimists claim. Moreover, there is a great part of the world abroad that still will trade through the same old ports on the Gulf, on the Atlantic and on the Pacific. The shock to those ports will not be great. It may not be appreciable.

* * *

How will the essential character of these ports in the Inland Empire be fundamentally changed? For as the engineers say, only 25 per cent of the commerce traveling the new seaway will be foreign.

There will be problems of getting new subsidies from Congress for harbor improvements, perhaps for deepening and widening the new seaway.

But all in all, the new seaway is going to be a very substantial benefit to all the lower lake ports. And for that, the people there are duly grateful.

'Democracy' Discarded

Toughening the U.S. Army

(From The New York Times)

EVER since Korea, a sort of quiet counter-revolution has been going on inside the army against "nursemaiding" of the troops.

In the bitter three-year Korean fight the army learned once again that soft, inadequately trained soldiers were the first to die. Today the army is seeking to translate that lesson into a program of ruggedness, tighter discipline and hard knocks.

The result is that every second lieutenant who enters the regular army can expect to take paratrooper or ranger training. For the reserves the tougher training is optional.

The army is around to admitting — at least within its ranks — that a democratic army, even in a democratic country, does not work. After years of seeking to lure men into enlistment with promises of good pay, security and "learn a trade," it has decided that such promises do not produce men mentally and physically conditioned to fight.

* * *

Many an officer long has said privately that, while Americans fought well in Korea, they could have fought better. The changes are the result of these admissions.

When the question of a new attitude became pressing in the army a panel—a remarkably frank one, it developed—was set up to provide the answers. On the panel are a brigadier-general and six colonels, each a highly decorated combat veteran of World War II and Korea.

In an interview they discussed panel deliberations, but asked that no remarks be attributed directly to any of them.

"We are training for survival and the sooner everybody understands that the better," one of the officers said grimly.

"Many civilians, when they're talking about the army, say 'You don't need training in how to be miserable.' I say you do. If you haven't learned to survive under all conditions you don't come back."

* * *

Another of the officers broke in:

"We're going to have to tell the people who come into the army they aren't coming in for a feather bed. We aren't going to call them 'boy' and lead them around by the hand. They've got to learn to be men.

"The Chinese were tough. They had light equipment and a sack of rice and they knew how to endure. In Korea we had to have three squares a day—and two of them had to be hot or junior would write his Congressman or his mother."

A colonel spoke up:

"Let me tell you a story. It goes back to World War II:

"There was a company in Italy which twice won the Presidential Unit citation. Every man in it fought. I couldn't understand why this one company was so outstanding, so one day I called in the commander and asked him. He said:

"'Well, I figured out who was the strongest character in the company. It was the first sergeant. Whenever we went into combat I got up ahead just like the book says and led. The sergeant brought up the rear. His orders were to shoot the first ——— who moved to the rear.'

"As a result, every man in that company moved forward firing. A company in which every man fires can take a battalion objective, by the way.

"Pretty soon there was no need for the first sergeant. Every man had pride in his outfit and his own toughness. Their casualties were lighter, too.

"Of course, that is an extreme case, but it does illustrate that, where men become a unit and acquire a sense of identity with that unit, they will fight."

What about democracy in the army?

"An army by its nature is autocratic," one of the officers replied. "In a mild sort of way what we went through after World War II was something on the order of the Russian experience after World War I.

"The Russians experimented with friendly co-operation. They abolished the salute, and except for actual duty hours, everybody was treated the same. Fraternization between officers and men was encouraged.

"It didn't work. They got their tails whipped off in the war with Finland. They had a big shakeup and now they have the most rigidly disciplined army anywhere. We don't intend to go that far, but our experience has been on that order."

Specifically, these are some of the results of the change in high brass thinking:

Fifty per cent of all basic training now is devoted to physical conditioning.

Thirty-three per cent of all field training is devoted to night exercises.

Orders have gone out that non-commissioned officers receive more authority and prestige and that discipline be tightened up all along the line, beginning with the officer corps.

About half of the army's 480,000 non-commissioned officers will be stripped of their rank March 1 and take on the rank of specialists. As specialists, they will lose many of the privileges now rated by non-coms. The purpose of this is to return command responsibility to the line non-coms and take it away from office workers and other specialists.

Off-post saluting will be reinstituted Sept. 1.

Reserve Officers Training Corps graduates going on active duty as commissioned officers will have to pass basic classroom and field courses or revert to draft status.

Congress has been asked to revise the Uniform Code of Military Justice to give company commanders more power to punish minor infractions on the spot.

In brief, the army is trying to respond to the almost-universal plea of field generals for troops who can shoot and salute.

An Era Passes

(From The Edmonton Journal)

THE DEATH of Dr. Hugo Eckener, the dirigible pioneer and commander of the Graf Zepplin on its round-the-world flight in 1929, has brought to a close an era in aviation. This phase in the history of flight—the lighter-than-air interlude—might be described as one long lost cause, although Dr. Eckener retained his faith in airships to the end.

At one time, dirigible supporters had almost won the day, but the forces of war and politics, aided by disastrous crashes, spelled an early doom to this type of transportation. Probably the fatal blow to the cause was struck when the enormous airship Hindenburg exploded at Lakehurst, New Jersey, in 1937 with the loss of 36 lives. Hydrogen gas used in the Hindenburg had long been known to be dangerously unstable, but President Roosevelt, worried by the rise of Hitler, forbade the export of non-inflammable helium to Germany.

Had helium gas been made available to Eckener and his staff—and had the German government backed their work—the story might have been different.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Every time Terence O'Sullivan passed the barber shop he lifted his hat to the barber. A friend, having observed the gesture on several occasions, inquired, "Why such a show of deference, Terence?"

"Deference, my eye," Terence shouted. "That rascal sold me some hair restorer and I'm showing him what a fraud he is!"

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

ABOUT 90 per cent of those who do not fish are laboring under the same curious delusion. They have what might be called the goldfish bowl conception of fish. They imagine a lake is a bowl of water in which fish wander around at random like goldfish. Fishing, they think, is merely waiting for one of those wandering fish to come by and see your bait. Trolling, they suppose, is merely dragging a lure to and fro in the goldfish bowl until a stupid fish opens its mouth and is hooked.

These unhappy souls prove they are under this delusion when they say: "I haven't the patience to fish . . ."

Fishing is hunting. Patience is the very last and least requisite of the sport. Fish do not hang suspended in water, waiting for something to turn up. The gamest of them are sly, frantically wild and timid creatures who have lived by stealth all their lives. When they were small, if they were not stealthy, they were eaten by larger fish. When they are big, they have to be stealthy to waylay the stealthy little fish.

So they hide. In weed beds, amid boulders, shoals, reefs, logs, the game fish hide. And the angler has to hunt them. Even in trolling, the least sporty of all styles of fishing, you have to hunt and troll your lure near likely weed beds, ledges, shoals. It is not patience you use in fishing, but cunning, ever-increasing knowledge of the mysterious and underwater topography, and a good deal of energy burned up in pure fresh air.

Just as the wild game seeks the secret places of the land, the fish seek the secret places of the water. Some folk get fish sitting on a wharf, dangling a worm, or floating in a boat doing the same, at random. Some hunters sit on their back steps and get ducks flying over. But most anglers are fish hunters, and the most impatient men alive.

Letters to the Editor

Taxes for This?

Having recently moved to the fair city of Victoria, I was confronted today (August 23) with my first example of your capital city's public services, namely the fire department.

As I understand it part of my exorbitant taxes of $200 plus, goes to maintain this branch of the city services. A bush fire started next to my home and the fire department was called out to do their stuff. Some 10 minutes later (I live in the [illegible] circle) an ancient truck wheezed up, coughed a few times and with a screeching of brakes came to a sudden stop from the five miles per hour it was traveling.

By this time, of course, a few of the neighbors had joined four hoses together and had most of the fire out. After a little assistance from the fire hose on this ancient steed, all was under control. As if sensing she had done her duty, the old girl gave up the ghost and died on the spot.

After much consultation a repair truck was called out and old faithful was towed away. This, I can only assume is a rare occasion, but I should hate to think what might have been the case if the fire had spread in this direction and I had to depend on that type of equipment to protect my home.

For this we pay taxes?—Personally, I think I'll increase my fire insurance.

School Transport

I have been following with interest the news and letters on school buses. I have only just come to Victoria from Duncan, to which town I came from England just a year ago.

I have been very critical of the bus service there and in particular the service to new Somenos School, of which your correspondent Mr. Earl Severson is senior teacher. I am well acquainted with Mr. Severson and I have been very impressed by his sincerity and keen interest in the well-being, spiritual and mental welfare of his students.

At Duncan I had correspondence with the school board (No. 65, quite notorious for many things but not those connected with progress), the municipality of North Cowichan and in the local press on the subject of bus service. My main objections to any restriction of service are:

(1) That children up to grade 4 have a quite sufficiently long day from 9 a.m. to 3.30 p.m. in school, with mental effort which is equally as tiring as physical effort.

(2) To require young children, say under nine years, to walk up to three miles during the months of inclement weather is quite unreasonable and a retrograde step to the "good old days."

Mr. Severson has admirably expressed the case of modern dangers on high-speed highways (by some "miracle" of planning the school he controls is on the side of the New Island Highway).

I trust Mr. Williston will look elsewhere for his economies if they must be made in the educational sphere at all. . . .

Parents To Blame

We read almost every day of small children being attacked or abducted. Are the parents partly to blame for this? I know how difficult it is for a busy mother to continually watch her small ones, but if they were really taught not to go on the road unless absolutely necessary, and above all not to accept rides with anyone unless their parents are with them.

To illustrate this, yesterday whilst driving along the East Saanich Road I was horrified to see two small children (ages around six and eight) on the road trying to thumb a ride. How easy it would have been for an unscrupulous person to pick them up and whisk them away. The same with the two boys who begged a ride up-Island a few weeks ago.

I was sorry that I had not stopped to inquire the names of the two youngsters and phoned their parents, so hope if you print this all parents will read it, and give it some serious thought.

Buses Cut Cost

. . . Here is what has happened in Fernie district to make (school) transportation pile up.

During the past 30 years, 16 schools have been closed and only two new ones opened. From 25 schools there are now only nine operating, and I feel safe in saying that the school population is now at its highest.

The Cameron Report held out the hope for equal education for all the children in the province from Crowsnest to Telegraph Creek. To obtain this if possible it was necessary to have good buildings, good equipment, good teachers. In nearly all of these schools closed down, there were neither good schools, good equipment, and teachers available.

To improve things, a new school was built at Grasmere, an addition to Jaffray School, a new school at Newgate and one at Elko, and one at Sparwood, and Fernie School has been enlarged.

To get the pupils to these schools several buses are in operation and the cost must be considerable. To have kept things as they were it would have been very necessary to build several new schools.

Now the district has less teachers, less janitors, less schools and equipment, less expense for fuel and other things, and the best of all is the children from distant points get a better education.

Instead of being in a school where a teacher, often just out of normal school is trying her very best to teach from four to sometimes eight grades, most of the pupils are getting to a school where a teacher has but one grade and there is a principal to help; and furthermore many students are now getting high school education they would not get without transportation.

Walking to Class

. . . Five miles is a long walk for any six-year-old, especially in the kind of weather we have had here for many winters. Most parents cannot afford all the latest in weatherproof equipment. Ours have only two miles to go along a very dangerous highway with logging trucks, delivery trucks and cars whizzing by all day long and no place to walk along much of the way. . . .

There is always plenty of taxpayers' money available to rebuild Doukhobor schools as fast as they are burned down. Why should our little ones be penalized to pay for them?

Support the Symphony

While the subject of grants is up before our city council, I should like to make a strong plea and appeal for Victoria's Symphony Society.

Victoria's attitude towards the cultural arts is almost unique in terms of insularity and indifference. Here, we have a large population, boasting an intellectual status born of that maturity gained in travel abroad and "exposure to" the finest of cultural listening in music. Here also, we have an admixture of nationalities whose common heritage is music in all of its delightful forms, yet an apathy exists that is incomprehensible!

It seems strange that none of these groups or individuals come forth with a demand for recognition and support of their own symphony, or a concerted effort toward carrying the work of the symphony to enviable heights, in the consciousness of Canada as a whole. The time is now . . .

The Victoria Symphony is an important responsibility belonging to all of us. It is also (and this should be thought on), a continual safeguard against the "delinquencies" we read of; the concerts themselves, and those offered the students, are milestones along the road of progress . . .

I am very sure every taxpayer will approve a grant to assist the never-ending efforts the symphony committee put forth towards sustaining "life" in the music of this community.

Husband Battles Blaze; Family Takes to Water

VANCOUVER (CP) — Earl Gullacher of Vancouver fought flames for "10 horrible minutes" on his 23-foot motor boat yesterday while his wife and three children clung to the sides in the icy waters of the Strait of Georgia.

His wife, Ida, 31, suffered slight burns to the left ankle and foot. Her 18-month-old child, Mitchell, suffered shock.

Two other children, Earl and Brenda, escaped injury.

Two miles out from Horseshoe Bay the motor went dead.

"My wife and I tried to prime it by pouring a glassful of gasoline on it," said the 29-year-old salesman.

"There was an explosion and my wife dropped the burning glass at her feet. The flames spread along the deck instantly.

"The first thing I could think of was to grab my wife and throw her overboard."

He put life preservers on the children and lowered them over the side, then put out the fire with a small hand extinguisher.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Visitors to the Pacific National Exhibition opening here today will be among the first Canadians to register their fingerprints for civil defense records.

Frank White, superintendent of Vancouver's auxiliary police force, said the prints are "strictly for civilian use."

If the PNE venture is successful, civilian fingerprinting may go on a country-wide basis, he added.

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Fears were expressed at a school board meeting that Vancouver's proposed civic auditorium will be a "white elephant" if it is built at Dunsmuir and Cambie streets without the rest of the civic centre project.

Windup Program Friday

Young Entertainers Fill Showboat Finals

Eighteen members of 14 acts will present brand-new material in the amateur night grand finale Friday as the Victoria Chamber of Commerce Showboat docks after its first season.

Details of the final program, released last night, show that teen-agers will provide most of the entertainment in a race for top prizes of $100, $50 and $25.

Winners of the $1,000 in Showboat Association prizes will also be announced Friday, with interest centring on the all-expense trip to the Yukon.

Amateur dancers are Jean Adams, 10; Shannon MacLean, 17, and James Costain and Diana McBratney, 14.

Singers are Johnny Allan, 11; John Fortin, 20; Dave Blamire, 18; Terry McBratney, 11; Al Vance and Dorothy Cooke of Duncan; Dorothy and Billy Hosie; Muriel Bertram of Prince Rupert, and Jim Lynch, 16.

Don Oliver, a 10-year-old ukelele player and singer; Bob Stepanick, 20-year-old yodeler, and John and Art Timmers, guitarists, complete the list.

Hugh Curtis and Fred Usher will be masters of ceremonies, and Al Smith will be at the piano.

Trade Minister Ralph Chetwynd, George Wheaton, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Harry Peele of the Musicians' Union and Conway Parrott and George I. Warren of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau have been invited.

Jack Klein, chairman of the Showboat committee, will present the amateur prizes, and Mr. Warren will pick the winner of the Yukon trip.

Approximately 1,500 persons enjoyed the final regular show last night, with acts including Bets and her Buddies, singer Diane Clifford, the Beaux and Belles, and Scottish pipers and dancers.

London Editor Due for Blast

Trouble is heaping over the head of the editor of the Illustrated London News, and it should hit him about the end of this week.

He has incurred the wrath of George I. Warren, king-pin of city publicity.

A recent edition of the magazine carried a full-page picture of Vancouver, and called it the capital of British Columbia.

This hurts Mr. Warren.

But he has a staunch ally in Major Frederick V. Longstaff of 50 King George Terrace, who has sent off a sharp note to the editor pointing out the mistake.

"All my life I have been a reader of your great paper, but how can I rely on it in future? There may be other serious mistakes," he wrote.

Also due to receive letters of complaint from Mr. Warren are the editors and publishers of Webster's Dictionary.

Their offense? You guessed it:

Mr. Warren has a stock phrase for the letters he sends out to all those who give Vancouver the honor.

He points out that Victoria became the capital city many years ago, when the present site of Vancouver "was a virgin timber stand on the shores of Burrard Inlet."

Advertising of Victoria Paying Off, Says Warren

Advertising is paying off for Victoria and Vancouver Island, helping to avoid the depression now hitting the tourist trade at other West Coast centres.

The assertion was made yesterday by George I. Warren, secretary-manager of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, who said the number of tourists this year is on a par with record-setting figures in 1953.

"But they are not staying as long or spending as much money as in the past," he added.

He said this is due to the increase in tourist accommodation locally and in the rest of the province.

"They are finding that it is not necessary now to depend on advance bookings. Therefore they are travelling further and faster," said Mr. Warren.

GOOD AS 1953

Vancouver Island has had a tourist year as good as 1953—when 151,088 automobiles were transported here — despite an indifferent summer.

"Advertising has brought them here," declares Mr. Warren.

He pointed out that in Oregon there are 25 billboards advising tourists to "follow the birds to Victoria." The advertisements are spread along the coastal road to California and along the Columbia River scenic route.

During 1953, Canadian customs officers at Victoria handled 65,617 automobiles carrying 197,392 passengers.

During the first seven months of this year they handled 43,308 cars carrying 127,707 passengers.

TCP gives up to 15% more power within 400 miles

Shell-discovered additive now blended into both Shell Gasolines releases power formerly held captive by lead and carbon deposits. TCP is the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.*

Acts so fast you'll think your engine's had a tune-up before you've finished your second tankful—within 400 miles

You can be almost certain that you are not getting the full power your car's engine was designed to deliver.

That's because lead and carbon deposits build up fast in the combustion chambers and on spark plugs. Power you should be getting is held captive in your engine.

No exceptions

This happens to all cars. In combustion chambers these deposits get red hot and pre-fire the fuel before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power fights itself as a result of pre-ignition.

Power is also wasted when these deposits short-circuit spark plugs and cause misfiring. This misfiring and pre-ignition are the major cause of power loss in your car.

TCP Unleashes Captive Power

This Shell-discovered additive "fireproofs" deposits in combustion chambers to stop pre-ignition. On spark plugs it makes the deposits non-conductive and prevents spark plug short-circuiting.

Up to 15% more engine power is released by both Shell and Shell Premium Gasolines with TCP.

Less Than Two Tankfuls

So rapid is the action of Shell Gasolines with TCP that you'll feel your engine has had a tune-up before you've finished the second tankful

TCP is a Shell-discovered additive carefully blended into both Shell Gasolines. There's nothing like it for keeping harmless the deposits that constantly build up in combustion chambers and on spark plugs. To keep your engine tuned as only TCP additive can do it, buy a Shell Gasoline with TCP every time you fill your tank. Remember, the only place you can get it is at Shell stations.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

The advantage of sacrifice bidding are, like home cooking, sometimes overrated. West opened the king of spades, shifted to the king of hearts, then unwisely led a small spade instead of the ace. East ruffed and returned a heart. South trumped, cashed the two top diamonds and trumped a third diamond with dummy's four-spot. Another heart lead let South score his six of clubs by ruffing and South then led a fourth diamond which dummy trumped with the king. A spade was led, letting South ruff with the nine of clubs. Declarer then got out with his last diamond and made the last two tricks with his ace-jack of clubs.

This triumph of being allowed to buy the hand for only a 300-point loss would have been considerably lessened if the opponents had managed to defeat it by the 500 points they could have collected. However, it was already sufficiently tarnished by the fact that East-West couldn't have made a game anywhere. At three no-trump, South would open the king of diamonds and shift to a low club. After winning the club king, North shouldn't have much trouble deciding that another club, not a diamond, is the desired continuation. South makes two more clubs and his ace of diamonds and the defenders get the first five tricks.

Against four hearts, South gets a diamond come-on signal from his partner, so he continues that suit and gives North a third-round ruff. The ace of clubs is the setting trick.

Who should be charged with the bad result? It's easy to light on South, who bid five clubs after having been doubled at four. But South was entitled to expect North to hold a completely busted hand except for four clubs to the ten-nine and a doubleton diamond. Then four hearts might be cold; five clubs set but two tricks for a profitable save.

Today's quotation: "Adversity is the state in which a man most easily becomes acquainted with himself, being especially free from admirers then. —Dr. Samuel Johnson.

Wednesday for everyone: Attend to regular duties. Be tactful in dealings with others in the morning. The afternoon through mid-evening requires diplomacy and discretion in what you say, sign and write. Stay behind the scenes rather than be too noticeable.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Lend a respectful ear to advice of others, but keep your own counsel. Afternoon: relax in your own environment. Sidestep chance-taking.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Make certain of tactful, courteous dealings with local people and women. Afternoon: stay in your customary scene of operation.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Use discretion in monetary ventures. Protect assets. Afternoon: maintain unruffled relationships.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—Line up pending ventures, but take no precipitant action. Afternoon: keep clear of accepting added financial burdens.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo)—Stick to the job. Solve problems. Schedule your time wisely. Afternoon: be diplomatic. Don't force issues.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Maintain accord in encounters with pals and associates. Afternoon: find seclusion, complete work at hand.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra)—Protect credit, prestige; exert discretion in dealings with higher-ups and elders. Afternoon: be considerate of companions.

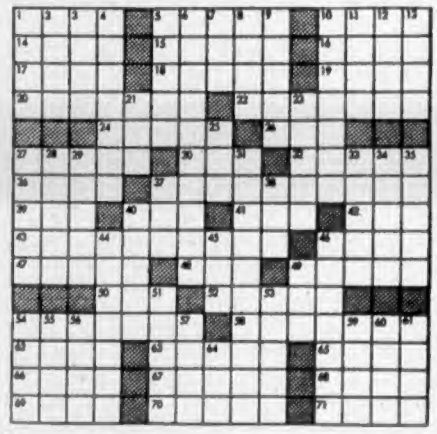

October 23 to November 21 (Scorpio)—Be alert in traffic; double check plans, decisions. Afternoon: be discreet with superiors and re ambitions.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Don't let anyone make inroads on your resources. Afternoon: limit plans and ideas to the practicalities.

December 22 to January 19 (Capricorn)—Step carefully where the rights of others are involved. Afternoon: avoid hazards, especially financial ones.

Planning ahead—Good for entertainment, sociability, etc.: August 26, 27, 29, 30; September 1, 3, 4, 5, 7.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices showed a firm tone at the close following active trade on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. After a dull opening, dealings picked up in all grains especially flax.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 145,000 bushels; Malta 370,000; Colombia 50,000; Belgium 35,000; Germany 75,000; and a small lot to Japan.

Lakehead prices for the top grades of class two, IWA and domestic wheat remained unchanged from Monday.

Wall Street Retreats Unwillingly

NEW YORK (AP)—A moderate downward readjustment took place in the stock market with lots of resistance signs along the way.

It was the second straight retreat for the market. However, there were several modifying features—relatively low volume, good plus signs in key areas, final hour recovery from the lows.

Aircrafts were under sporadic selling attacks, and ended rather mixed. Steels continued to be sold in the midst of doubts whether the industry will show a pickup in orders soon. Railroads were lower again. Strike news in the rubber industry made poor reading, and traders and others sold rubber shares down.

A late pickup in the price of Chrysler sent that stock ahead smartly and encouraged better prices for the entire group of motors.

Canadian issues were mixed. Distillers Seagram added ⅝ and International Nickel gained ¼. McIntyre fell ½ and Canadian Pacific and Dome Mines both slipped ⅛.

On the American stock exchange Lake Shore and Giant Yellowknife both added ⅛.

Rumor Helps Radiore

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market lost a little ground in moderate trading, but no section was particularly weak.

Prices moved irregularly in a narrow range. Western oils and industrials, ahead earlier, closed with slight but general declines.

Papers, utilities and steels closed a little weaker but agricultures were firm. Other groups mixed.

Western oils price changes were almost all under 25 cents. Peace River added to Monday's steep climb but Pacific Pete eased.

Noranda countered a weaker trend in base metals with a 50-cent gain.

Golds closed weaker in almost a solid line.

Uraniums showed little change, except Radiore, which climbed 13 cents on rumors that Eldorado, which adjoins its property, has made a good find in its underground drilling into Radiore holdings.

Gunnar Gains 50c

MONTREAL (CP) — Stock market prices drifted into softer territory in moderately active trading.

Canada Cement lost 1 point and Canadian Celanese was ⅞ weaker.

Beverages leaned forward narrowly while miscellaneous industrials, senior metals, senior oils and steels showed a downward trend. A mixed tone ruled the paper, utility and bank sections. Carriers generally held firm.

Mines were mixed in a narrow range. Gunnar gained 50 cents while Beaucage was off the same amount. Western oils were mainly unchanged in featureless trading.

Nobody Won Fishing Strike

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 were lost as a result of the 10-day strike of B.C. salmon tendermen, according to the Fisheries Association of B.C.

The association claims that the stoppage caused by 600 [illegible] of the salmon fishing season, was one of the most costly in the history of the industry.

It was a strike in which nobody won, because although the fishermen secured a $5 a month increase on the operators' pre-strike offer, they lost more than $1,000,000 in earnings.

The stoppage from August 6 to 16 is estimated to have cost each seiner at least $1,000.

The association, deploring the fact that it has had eight strikes in the past three years, says that every one of them has weakened the industry and caused a loss in earnings.

The gains made in wages can never make up for the terrific losses incurred, claims the association.

INVESTORS SURPRISED

Investors were taken by surprise by the turn of events in Brazil leading to the death of President Vargas. Brazilian Traction, the large Canadian-owned utility, traded heavily on Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges yesterday, but the price remained around $7.50, and other Brazilian international stocks were also steady.

At the same time, Brazilian Traction is so greatly dependent upon the policy of the Brazilian government that any change is bound to create a degree of suspense among the many Canadian holders of the stock. Under the government which has now tendered its resignation, Brazilian Traction had managed to work out a withdrawal-of-profit policy that promised to give non-resident holders a reasonable return for their investment.

HARDER TO BORROW

The United States Treasury found last week it was a trifle more difficult to borrow money.

The .1-per-cent increase in short-term treasuries raised the yield on these to .983 per cent. A week ago the yield was .898 per cent, and a couple of months ago it was at a low of .78 per cent.

The .1-per cent increase in the past week was the sharpest yield advance in the present cheap money phase, and it may bring about a temporary softening in the bond and stock markets.

U.S. RAILS DROOPY

Railways were the dull spot on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday. This followed a report that freight loadings in the first six months were down 13 per cent from last year.

The dip continued into August, and an upward trend is not yet in sight.

Net income of Class 1 railroads to June 30 was $224,000,000, down 43 per cent from last year's $417,000,000. The decline was chiefly due to the substantial reduction in freight, which accounts for 83 per cent of all rail revenue.

ROYALITE WILL OFFER

An offering of $5,000,000 of 5¼ per cent convertible preferred shares is to be made shortly by Royalite Oil Company Ltd. The issue is at present under negotiation and the offering price and the terms of the conversion have yet to be disclosed.

Royalite is one of the biggest independents in the Western Canada oil industry. It controls more than 2,000,000 acres of oil reserves, has two refineries, including one at Kamloops, and is a major shareholder in Trans-Mountain pipeline. It also supplies natural gas to the city of Calgary.

SPLIT APPROVED

Shareholders of Canadian Dredge and Dock yesterday approved a proposal for a four-for-one stock split. No date for the split was announced.

MINERALS FOUND

Favorable results from initial trenching have been secured by Copper Ridge Silver Zinc Mines Ltd. at its property on Britain River, near the Princess Royal Reach of Jervis Inlet.

Widths of sulphides up to 80 feet with values in gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc have been traced about 2,000 feet. Samples are being brought out for assay this week.

The property is 60 miles north of Vancouver and is adjacent to tidewater. Transcontinental Resources has a 15 per cent interest, and is in charge of development.

Copper Ridge stock, which trades over the counter in Vancouver, jumped from 10½ cents to 17 cents yesterday and closed at 14 cents.

Rust Reduces Wheat Crop

REGINA (CP)—Heavy rust infestation has reduced Saskatchewan's wheat crop to the point where the yield is not expected to be much above the long-term average of 15 bushels an acre, the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool and the provincial agriculture department indicated yesterday.

The agriculture department said present prospects indicate an average wheat yield of 18 bushels an acre, compared with 23 bushels an acre last year.

Canadian Minerals Eight Up, Eight Down

OTTAWA (BUP)—Eight of Canada's 16 leading minerals showed production increases in the first five months of the year compared with the same period last year, the bureau of statistics said yesterday.

Output gains were recorded by petroleum, natural gas, clay products, copper, gypsum, lead, lime and nickel.

Declines occurred in asbestos, cement, coal, gold, iron ore, salt, silver and zinc.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP)—Few price changes were noted in quiet trading on Montreal bond markets.

The Gunnar Gold 5s of 1960 gained ½ point point at 100¼ in an otherwise featureless corporate section.

On the government side, long-term Canadas were a shade easier. The other government issues were quiet and firm.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters) — Gold shares were firm in an irregular stock market.

Gilt-edged securities declined. Canadian Pacific and other dollar stocks reflected Wall Street's overnight decline.

Canadian and English preferred were strong in an irregular stores section.

Motor and engineering shares showed gains.

Oils recovered from a dull start and rubbers and teas were quiet.

Regina Makes It; WHL Plans Boost In Clubs' Total

CALGARY—The Western Hockey League, pushing for recognition as hockey's No. 2 circuit, will jump to seven or maybe eight clubs during the 1955-56 season with the awarding of a franchise to Regina here yesterday.

The league's board of directors voted to admit Regina, but not until the season after next, making continuation of the current six-team set-up certain for one more winter.

Teams this winter will be Calgary Stampeders, Edmonton Flyers, New Westminster Royals, Saskatoon Quakers, Vancouver Canucks and Victoria Cougars.

POSSIBILITIES

Possibilities for the 1955-56 season are:

1. A seven-team league, adding Regina only and giving the Prairies a league majority for the first time.

2. Admission of Portland, due to open a brand-new arena in early 1955, making a balanced eight-team circuit—four Coast and four Prairie teams.

3. A 10-team league, adding Seattle Bombers, who broke up after last season, and Tacoma Rockets, now a year dead.

All of the current clubs are said to favor the second plan, because Portland is a "red-hot" hockey town even though it has been out of the league for some time.

A new arena would cause interest to soar, ice experts feel.

The eight-team league could be operated two ways—the current setup with each club visiting the other area several times a season, or two separate divisions with only one or two journeys over the Rockies.

The current clubs feel a 10-team league would be too unwieldy, especially since Seattle and Tacoma "aren't drawing flies," as one coach put it.

League president Al Leader did not announce the vote on Regina, which occurred in a closed meeting, but it was known some coast teams had opposed an immediate franchise for the Saskatchewan city, because it would form a Prairie majority.

CHANCE TO ENTER

Main reason for the delay was to give Portland a chance to "get in," while Leader added a formal statement:

"The Regina club was willing and ready to operate the coming season, but it was felt that due to the time element involved it would provide an almost impossible task to assemble a competent hockey club so late in the season."

"The Regina club was willing and ready to operate the coming season, but it was felt that due to the time element involved it would provide an almost impossible task to assemble a competent hockey club so late in the season."

"The multitude of details involved in getting a club together made it almost a prohibitive task to be ready to operate the coming season," he said.

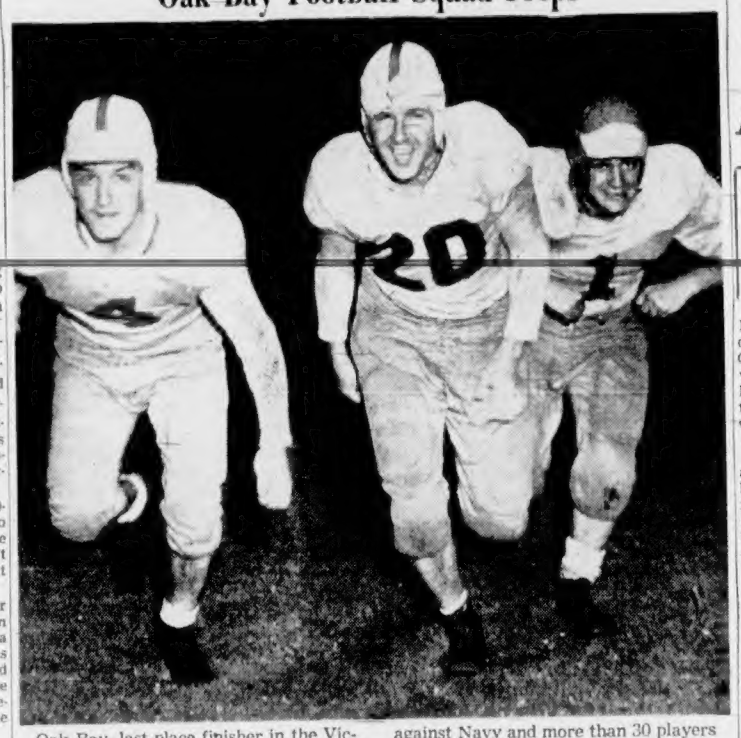

Given a year to prepare, Leader added, "it was felt that Regina will prove a valuable addition to the league and will be a good, strong club that the people of Regina will be proud of."

NO STATEMENT

Al Ritchie and Don Tells, who represented Regina interests, said they were satisfied with the vote. They made no statement on their first coach.

Directors on hand included Fred Hutchinson, Victoria; Art Chapman, Vancouver; Ken McKenzie, New Westminster; Norman Couch, Saskatoon; Jack Moyer and Frank Currie, Calgary, and Fred Miller, Bud Polle and Gordon McDonald, Edmonton.

Oak Bay Football Squad Preps

Oak Bay, last-place finisher in the Victoria Canadian junior football league last year, will step up into the intermediate loop along with Navy and Vampires this season. The Bays have been working out for two weeks in preparation for their season's opener against Navy and more than 30 players have been turning out to practices. Three linemen the Bays are counting on heavily are shown above. They are, left to right: Pete Barry, Hugh Stroyan and Trevor West, one of the stalwarts of last year's squad.

League Steps Up Notch

Better Brand of Grid Play Due In City Canadian Football Tilts

BY IAN GLENDAY

Victoria grid fans, who have been following the progress of the pigskin sport with added interest since professional football came to Vancouver in the form of the B.C. Lions, will see several major changes when the Victoria Canadian Football League opens its 1954 season.

With the lid-lifter set for Saturday, September 4, and all teams undergoing rugged practice sessions, the 1954 edition of the league is expected to produce a better brand of ball and also to provide the spectators with a first-class show.

The biggest changes have been the league's decision to step up a notch from junior to intermediate, to operate both a junior and intermediate circuit, and to move into a closed park—from Heywood Avenue to Macdonald.

This in itself is bound to improve the calibre of play and also help to put the sport on a "big-time" basis in Victoria.

NO RESTRICTIONS

Three teams—Oak Bay, Vampires and the always colorful Navy unit—will contest intermediate league honors with no restrictions as to player's age and weight. Last season there were four teams—Navy, Oak Bay, Royal Roads and Vampires—in action in what was classed as a junior circuit.

However, several regulations regarding the players were not followed in order to give more players a chance to compete.

Final plans for a junior league have almost been completed with HMCS Venture, Royal Roads, Oak Bay and Vampires expected to enter. Royal Roads, which won the city championship in a long-to-be-remembered final with Navy, was the only team not to move up into the intermediate league as all of the players are of junior age.

Intermediate games will be played at Macdonald Park and league officials are hoping to acquire four other parks so that each junior team can have a home field. The intermediate games will be played every Saturday, and junior games will be scheduled Sunday.

INTERMEDIATE OPENER

The intermediate opener will pit Ray Mitchell's Vampires against the rugged Navy crew. Navy will play its second game in three days when it meets Oak Bay on September 6.

Each team will play six games and the top two teams will enter a two-game, total-point playoff, which must be completed by November 1. The junior circuit is expected to open late in September.

At least one of the intermediate teams will be garbed in new uniforms and all squads will be well-dressed and well-equipped. The referees' association has been strengthened and at least 12 experienced arbiters will be available.

As one intermediate team will receive a bye each week, it is hoped that exhibition games with B.C. Cubs, farm team of the Lions, UBC Varsity and Kamloops can be arranged for the team that doesn't play.

Legal Battles Keep Busy Lions Busier

VANCOUVER—British Columbia Lions divided their attention between the gridiron and the courtroom Tuesday while polishing offensive plays in preparation for their opening Western Interprovincial Football Union game Saturday against the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The Lions, who failed to score a point in two pre-season exhibition games, were already engaged in a legal battle over the status of lineman Laurie Niemi and appeared on the verge of a similar contest over halfback Al Pollard.

Lions hope to have in injunction, obtained by the Washington Redskins preventing Niemi from playing for the club, lifted before Saturday. But they now may have to fight it out in court to keep Pollard, former Army star who played last season for Philadelphia Eagles.

Philadelphia general manager Vince McNally sent telegrams to Pollard and Lions coach Annis Stukus warning that the speedy halfback was under contract to play in the National Football League in 1954.

CLOUDED BY THREATS

Pollard has appeared impressive in early workouts but his status is clouded by threats of the Philadelphia Eagles that they would take legal action to keep him in harness. The Eagles claim Pollard is still their property, since he signed a 1954 contract last year.

Lions president Don Mackenzie said Pollard admitted to him that he had signed a 1954 contract with Eagles in 1953, but, after a dispute with Eagles management, "he thought it had been destroyed."

Pollard joined the Eagles in the middle of the 1951 season when he was secured from the now-defunct New York Yanks for the waiver price of $100. He has been used mostly on defense.

The Lions, already recognized as having a powerful line anchored by tackles Arnie Weinmeister and Chuck Quilter, plus Niemi, may be reinforced by world champion weightlifter Doug Hepburn of Vancouver. The 300-pound giant has been working out with the team, although he has never before played football.

OTTAWA WORK-HORSE

And there is also a possibility that John Wagoner, released Tuesday from Ottawa Rough Riders after six years as workhorse of the team's front line, will catch on with the Lions.

The 31-year-old farmer from North Carolina said he would "love to play in Vancouver." But before he can put on a Vancouver uniform, the three other Big Four league clubs must pass him up on waivers.

Mackenzie said his team was seriously considering Hepburn as player material.

"We're going to give him a try and he looks pretty good," Mackenzie said. "We wouldn't want him to sign a contract unless he showed promise of being able to make the club, but so far he looks good."

HEPBURN UNDECIDED

Hepburn was still undecided as to whether he would abandon weightlifting for a gridiron career. "They still haven't said anything about a contract. Although I am not signed, they're using my name for publicity," he said.

Stukus, the only Canadian-born coach in the WIFU or Big Four, is waiting hopefully for Saturday's game against the powerful Bombers, who have looked impressive in winning two straight league games.

"Winnipeg has a well-balanced club and Saturday night is going to be pretty rough for us in spots," he admitted. "But after what we've been through, anything Winnipeg throws at us will be a picnic."

Yankees Gain Game As Cleveland Trips

Speaking Briefly

Jim Peters and Stan Cox, English distance runners who collapsed in the British Empire Games marathon at Vancouver, were given a clean bill of health Tuesday and informed that no permanent injuries were suffered.

The Yankees aren't dead by a long shot, and they proved it last night by chipping a full game off Cleveland's American League lead with a 9-2 triumph over Baltimore while the Indians were licked 4-1 by Philadelphia Athletics.

The Orioles offered only feeble resistance to the Yankees, who clubbed 11 hits and shaved the Indians' lead to four-and-a-half games. Yogi Berra broke a hitting slump by driving in three runs with a single and homer as the Orioles went down to their 13th defeat in a row and Don Larsen suffered his 17th defeat—high in the majors.

Rookie John Gray cooled off the red-hot Indians by limiting them to four hits while his team-mates pounced on starter Mike Garcia for all of their runs. Philadelphia scored its first run in the opening frame, then rallied for three more in the third with the help of errors by Jim Hegan and Bobby Avila.

Jack Harshman struck out 10 in winning his 12th game and fifth in succession by pitching Chicago White Sox to a 4-0 victory over Washington. Harshman, who had shut out the Senators twice before, also helped at the plate with a home run in the ninth inning.

LEADERS UNCHANGED

There was no change in the National League race as New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves, the top three teams in that order, all posted victories.

The Giants held a four-game edge over the Dodgers by whipping Chicago Cubs, 5-1. Willie Mays banged two triples and a double in leading the Giants to their seventh straight victory while Ruben Gomez coasted to his 12th victory.

The Dodgers unlimbered their home-run artillery against Cincinnati as they thumped the Redlegs, 12-4. Sandy Amoros hit two homers and Carl Furillo and Duke Snider each blasted one.

Bobby Thomson, who broke his ankle during spring training, broke into the Milwaukee starting line-up for the first time and drove in two runs with a single and a double.

The Braves pinned the 12th loss on Robin Roberts and chased him for the first time in four years. Warren Spahn won his seventh in a row and his 15th of the season.

Jimmy Wells Moves Up In Net Play

Play in the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club's annual handicap tournament continued to run smoothly last night with defending champion Jimmy Wells advancing easily with a straight-set win over Lloyd Davies.

Defending women's champion Pam Ferguson was eliminated Monday night when she dropped a hard-fought three-setter to Audrey Ells.

Tonight's draw follows:

Bays and Jets Meet Thursday

Foul Bay and Nanaimo Jets will clash in the third game of the best-of-five series for the Vancouver Island senior "B" lacrosse championship at Memorial Arena Thursday night at 8.30 p.m.

The teams split the first two games, Bays dropping a 10-7 decision at Nanaimo but coming back to take the second game, 12-10, at Memorial Arena, Monday night.

The winner of the series moves into the provincial final against Rossland.

Shamrocks To Practice For Finals

Victoria Shamrocks, marking time until the first game of the best-of-seven Inter-City Lacrosse League playoff final against either PNE Indians or Nanaimo Native Sons at Memorial Arena Friday, will hold a workout at the arena tonight at 7.

The Rocks, who breezed past Vancouver Pilseners 12-5 Monday night to take the semi-final series three games to one, came out of the battle uninjured, although several players are nursing cuts and bruises.

Shamrocks will know their opponents in the final tonight when Sons and Indians tangle in the deciding game of a best-of-five semi-final series at Kerrisdale Arena. Sons will probably be missing coach Arnie Duggan, who received a match misconduct at the up-Island centre Saturday night.

Series Stretched Out By Overtime Draw

EDMONTON (CP)—The originally scheduled best-of-three Canadian soccer semi-final series was extended to a fifth game when Vancouver North Shore United and Edmonton North Side Legion battled Tuesday night to a 1-1 draw in overtime called by darkness.

Both teams have won one and tied twice. The fifth game will be played here today, the winner advancing to the Canadian finals against Winnipeg Army, Navy and Scottish. North Shore is carrying five Victoria players on its squad.

The teams had played 24 minutes of a 30-minute overtime session when the game was called. Rain started midway through the second half and the field was slippery and dark at the final whistle. The 30-minute overtime mark was set prior to the game.

LAWSON FIRES FIRST

Legion took a 1-0 lead at the six-minute mark of the first half when outside left Jimmy Lawson drove a long shot past Joe Travis after the goalie had punched out a looping drive from Ed Broadley.

The visitors evened the count 20 minutes later when Ab Travis scored. Goalie John O'Donnell blocked the shot and let the ball roll from him, Travis knocking in the rebound.

Both goalies were spectacular in keeping the scoreboard clean in the second half and overtime session.

NEAR THING

Edmonton came close to the winning goal near the end of regulation time when Charlie Campbell broke through the Vancouver defense. But Travis smothered the shot.

Vancouver didn't get a single shot on goal during the 24 minutes of overtime. Edmonton, however, tested Travis six times.

Legion had 21 shots on goal during the entire route, against seven for North Shore United. Vancouver tried 10 corner kicks and Edmonton seven. Legion had eight fouls called against them, one more than the opposition.

Marlene, City Miss Save Day

Britain's Curtis Cuppers Trounce Canadian Women

BEACONSFIELD, Que. (CP)—The British Curtis Cup team tuned up for golf matches against the United States with a convincing victory Tuesday over a Canadian women's squad.

Only the steady play of Marlene Stewart, the Canadian champion from Fonthill, Ont., saved the home team from being blanked as Britain won 12½ of a possible 16 points in the singles and doubles matches, played over the Beaconsfield course 15 miles west of Montreal.

Marlene picked up the only Canadian victory in the singles—a 3-2 win over British ladies' champion Frances Stephens. In the afternoon round she teamed with tiny Dorothy Herbertson of Victoria to down Miss Stephens and Elizabeth Price one up.

Canada got the other half point when Mrs. J. H. McCarter of Toronto ended all square with Jeannette Robertson of Scotland.

In defeating Miss Stephens, Marlene gained revenge for her defeat at the hands of the English girl in the semi-finals of the British Amateur this year. But she had to pull one of her famed comebacks to do it.

Trailing by three holes at the end of sixth, she rallied with a birdie and a par on the seventh and eighth to cut Miss Stephens' margin to one at the turn.

She closed out the match by winning the 11th, 13th and 15th and halving the 16th.

A late rally by Miss Stephens and Miss Price of the British team fell short of winning them the doubles match. They trailed by three starting the 16th, but took that hole and the 17th with pars as both Marlene and Miss Herbertson went one over.

On the 18th Marlene dropped a two-foot birdie putt to match a four posted by Miss Price and halved the hole for the win.

One point was awarded for each of the eight singles matches and two for each of the doubles, played with four balls on a best-ball basis.

Fastballing Foychuck Speeds Arrows Flight

Ed Foychuck, the fastballing righthander who is pitching his first year in the senior "A" men's softball league, continued his mastery of Arrows last night at Royal Athletic Park as he led Fletchers into the Vancouver Island final.

Foychuck won his third game of the best-of-seven final, his 13th of the season and his seventh in a row over Arrows as he turned them back on only four hits for a 5-1 triumph. It gave Fletchers the series, four games to one.

Fletchers now meet Duncan Mayo Lumber in a best-of-five series for the Island championship, the first game scheduled at Royal Athletic Park, Thursday night, at 7.15. Second game is slated for Duncan on Sunday and the third game will be played at Royal Athletic Park Monday.

Bud Ross was Foychuck's victim for the third time in the series. The Arrow righthander gave up seven hits but four of them came in the sixth inning when the winners broke up a tight pitching battle with a five-run outburst.

Foychuck gave up back-to-back singles to Ronnie and Bill Benn in the second inning when Arrows scored their only run. Hal Yardley smashed a single in the third inning but Foychuck retired the next 16 batters in order until John Furmston led off the ninth inning with a triple.

Ross had given up only three hits until the disastrous sixth. Bernie Clarkson led off with a single and Vern Evans drew a walk. Big Ab Wiebe then connected off Ross for a tremendous home run, the ball rolling almost to the fence in centre field.

Fiori Goegan kept things going with a clean single, catcher Les Wilson walked and Foychuck drove in the final two runs with a double.

Ross gave up seven hits in the six innings he pitched while Furmston gave up the other in the final two innings. Foychuck struck out eight and didn't walk a man while getting errorless support from his mates.

Clarkson paced the winners at the plate with four singles in four appearances.

Sightless Salesman Proves Water Whiz

MONTREAL (CP)—George Cohen has found that he doesn't need eyes to be a water-skier.

Totally blind since 1944, Mr. Cohen, 40, is believed to be the first sightless person in Canada to take up the difficult and exhausting sport. He lost his sight when he fell victim to glaucoma, an eye disease.

Mr. Cohen, a printing salesman for Woodward Press, was an active athlete before he lost his eyesight. He still plays golf and dives and swims.

"Since I became blind I have done a lot of walking with Bambi, my seeing-eye dog," he said in an interview. "That strengthened my legs.

"In June when a group of members of the Montreal Association for the Blind were guests at Manitou Lodge at Ivry, about 60 miles north of Montreal, I tried water-skiing.

"I failed on the first try but then I got it. Now I have been on the skis six times and failed only twice."

Rain Routs Golfers In NHL Tourney, Practice for Open

BY W. R. WHEATLEY

TORONTO (CP)—A veritable cloudburst swept the Scarboro golf course late Tuesday, soaking practice-round golfers and spectators, and for a while threatened to interfere with today's start of the $26,500 open.

The deluge all but washed out the National Hockey League golfers' tournament.

In the worst of the downpour, Sam Snead raced to a tent at the 10th tee. From an army telephone line around the course came a plea from Sam to "send me a cat."

An army jeep finally brought him to the clubhouse. Other drenched players straggled in. Greens were turned into lakes and sand traps overflowed with water.

UNFINISHED

The NHL players' tournament was halted before all could finish. Elmer Lach and Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal Canadiens had a score of 68 for 16 holes in the best-ball matches. Ted Kennedy and Jimmy Thomson of Toronto Maple Leafs had 70 for the same distance. It was finally decided that Lach and Kennedy will play the 17th and 18th today to determine the winner.

Lach and Richard won the first NHL golf championship last year.

Warren Godfrey and Ed Sandford of Boston Bruins finished 18 holes, in the rain, with a score of 86, and Red Kelly and Earl (Dutch) Reibel of Detroit Red Wings had 92 for the same distance.

HOT PRACTICE

Some name-players got in practice rounds before the deluge. Bob Toski, who cashed in for $50,000 at the Tam O'Shanter world tournament in Chicago, fired a practice-round 68, three under par, over the 6,436-yard Scarboro course. Jack Kay of Montreal also came in later with a 68.

Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., and Stan Leonard of Vancouver, each had 69.

Tuesday night there was still no definite indication of the number of starters and the draw had not been made up. One absentee will be Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis, Tenn., dentist, who was reported ill.

Temple Again Heads PCAHA

Ivan Temple of Victoria was elected president of the Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey Association for the fifth straight year at the annual general meeting of the association held at Nanaimo recently.

Temple will represent the PCAHA at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association at Kamloops in September.

He will present the PCAHA's mutual aid scheme to the B.C. body for province-wide adoption for minor hockey.

Less Than Two Weeks To Go Before Grouse Season Opens

BY DOUG PEDEN

Vancouver Island nimrods have less than two weeks to wait until the opening of the new hunting season, and recent reports indicate they can look forward to some of their best sport in recent years when they start out after blue grouse on September 4 or in search of buck deer two weeks later.

Although weather conditions were not ideal during the nesting season, blue grouse are reported to be in good supply through most of Vancouver Island. Coveys appear to be plentiful in many areas, although the average number of birds per covey is somewhat smaller than usual.

As in past years, upper Island areas are harboring the greatest numbers of grouse, but hunters, especially those who have done some advance scouting to locate coveys, can expect to find good shooting in many sections nearer Victoria.

Among the more popular areas, Campbell River and Quinsam should be listed with the best producers this season, and Robertson River country is again expected to yield many limit bags during the first couple of weeks. Reports from Hill 60 in the Cowichan area have varied, some observers finding coveys plentiful and others flushing only a few birds.

Logging slash near Jordan River looks like a good bet for early-season hunters, and some good concentrations of blues have been seen in parts of East Sooke and around Shawnigan Lake.

In almost all areas, a good percentage of the young birds will barely be on the wing when shooting gets under way, and, while proving easy targets, will make only a meagre addition to the family dinner.

A later opening of the grouse season would have provided hunters with more sporty targets and slightly larger birds. However, there is always the possibility that blue grouse will have started their annual migration back into the higher timber by mid-September and be less accessible, as was the case last year when firing started on September 12.

* * *

Benefitting from a mild winter, deer have made good progress and game department checks indicate a good crop for riflemen in most sections of the Island. The animals, attracted by the tender browse afforded by new growth, are most plentiful in recently-logged territory and, in some cases, have become less numerous in the older forests.

Among the more productive surveys taken by game officials were those of north Nanoose Bay and west of Courtenay. Game biologist Don Robinson of Nanaimo reported a count of 750 deer during a nine-night check near Nanoose, while Inspector George Stevenson and game warden Charley Essler spotted approximately 90 in a three-hour evening count at Wolf Lake. Good numbers of deer have also been observed in the slash around Jordan River.

* * *

For those who have been asking, there is no open season on doe deer on Salt Spring Island this season. Does are legal game only on Vancouver and Denman Islands from November 20 until November 30 . . . Sportsmen will find price on hunting equipment down an average of almost 10 per cent from last spring due to reduction of excise taxes last spring.

Victoria Fish and Game Club officials, who are to be commended for an active summer program, plan to apply for the 1955 Provincial Game Convention . . . The game association has invited any sportsman wanting some pre-season shotgun practice to attend trap-shooting sessions at its Goldstream grounds Thursday evenings from 6.30 and Sunday afternoon . . . Victoria Gun Club also invites scattergunners to take part in practice shoots on skeet and trap ranges at its Albert Head Road layout Sunday afternoon.

South Vancouver Island Rangers have offered hunters the use of their range for sighting-in rifles Saturday between 9.30 a.m. and 5.30 p.m. There will be an entry fee of $1 and Rangers will supply targets and assistance in adjusting sights. Also scheduled at the Rangers' Luxton grounds Saturday is their annual sportsman's rummage sale, which starts at 1.30 p.m.

Bird Hunters Given Chance To Limber Up

Bird hunters, awaiting the opening of the blue grouse season on September 4, have been invited to attend a practice shoot at Victoria Gun Club Sunday afternoon for pre-season practice on flying targets.

Firing in the final full-scale shoot of the summer is scheduled to get under way at 12 noon at the club's Albert Head Road grounds. Two skeet layouts and four self-angling trap fields will be in operation during the afternoon.

Although most of the firing will be strictly for practice, some optional money shoots will be held. Refreshments and ammunition will be available at the grounds.

Sodden Track Faces Top Europe Athletes

BERN (AP)—The 28-nation, full-blown preview for the Olympics starts today on a sodden track with Russia, Britain, Hungary and Germany favored to divide 17 first places in the European track and field championships.

There will be no officially recognized team championship, but Russia is expected to amass a preponderant total of unofficial points.

Of 928 athletes here, Russia has 82. That is the largest group and it is expected to collect first places in the men's hop, step and jump, 400-meter hurdles and the decathlon, as well as about seven of eight women's titles.

Between the opening today and Sunday's closing the Russians will try out for the first time the team which may win the 1956 Olympics.

Germany has, next to Russia, the best-rounded team here. The Germans, all from the West, should win one or possibly two sprints, and maybe the 400 metres.

LONDON (CP) — Britain's athletes, who cleaned up at the British Empire Games, face a different proposition today.

Britain will be extremely lucky to repeat the six victories of 1950.

Against formidable opponents from both sides of the Iron Curtain, Britain is counting on three possible winners—Dr. Roger Bannister in the 1,500 metres, Chris Chataway or Freddie Green in the 5,000 metres and a leggy lass called Diane Leather in the 800 metres.

Illness and injury have played some part. Gordon Pirie who was to have provided opposition to Emil Zatopek over 5,000 and 10,000 metres, is just over a foot injury. Jim Peters probably would have started as favorite in the marathon. Now he is out after his Vancouver tragedy.

Ken Wilmshurst, who took both the broad and hop, step and jump championships at Vancouver, is through for the year because of his severe case of mumps.

Other Empire Games champions such as six-miler Peter Driver and pole-vaulting Geoff Elliott will have to improve to win.

However, Derek Johnson may pull a surprise in the 800 metres, some experts feel. And Northern Ireland's Thelma Hopkins, Vancouver high jump queen, may manage to win.

Lands Even Up Softball Series

Lands squared the best-of-seven final for the Provincial Government Employees' softball championship at a game apiece last night by downing Remnants, 11-7, at Central Park.

Third game of the series will be played Friday night at Central Park at 6.30.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Albert Babe Siebert, star defenseman and newly-named playing-manager of the Montreal Canadiens, was drowned 15 years ago today while swimming in Lake Huron at St. Joseph, Ont. Three times an all-star and winner of the Hart Trophy in 1937, Siebert played for Montreal Maroons, New York Rangers and Boston Bruins before going to Canadiens in 1936.

Muskie Record Size But Not on Books

TORONTO (CP)—The muskie Bob Malo of Port Arthur caught in Wisconsin June 6 may have been the biggest ever caught by a man. But it won't go down as such in the records of that New York bible of angling, Field and Stream, the outdoors magazine.

Pete McGillen reported Tuesday in his outdoors column in The Toronto Telegram that Field and Stream advised Malo it was rejecting his claim for a world record because the scales were inaccurate, even though they were weighing light by half a pound.

After Malo landed the muskellunge in Middle Eau Claire Lake, 60 miles south of Duluth, it went 69 pounds, 12 ounces, on a taxidermist's scales. This was one ounce heavier than the previous world record muskie caught in Wisconsin in 1949 by Louis Spray.

HALF-POUND MORE

Subsequently, an official check showed the scales to be weighing light and Malo's fish was really 70 pounds, four ounces.

Field and Stream's letter to Malo said in view of the inaccuracy of the scales it had no recourse but to refuse acceptance of his entry since "any other course would immediately involve us in endless controversies."

Malo told McGillen in a letter he plans to keep trying to win recognition for his fish.

Landy Works Out at Bern, Plans for Seasons Ahead

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—John Landy, world record holder for the mile, jogged around the track Tuesday where the British athletes are training for the European Games and said he was looking forward to a quiet track and field season in Australia in 1955.

The four-minute miler explained he has eased off from 1954—the year that brought him to his wonder mile of three minutes, 58 seconds in Finland this June. But he planned a full season next year. There were reports Landy may even make a few appearances in Scandinavia at the end of this season.

OLYMPICS LIKELY

There seemed little doubt that the school teacher would run in the 1,500-metre race at the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne.

He has been keeping in an eased-off condition warming up with Dr. Roger Bannister, the first of the world's two four-minute milers and the man who beat him at Vancouver in the British Empire Games mile. Both came home under four minutes in that "mile of the century" race.

Council Has Busy Meeting

Delegates Named By Port Alberni For UBCM Talks

PORT ALBERNI—Mayor Loran Jordon and Aldermen Fred Weaver, J. R. Dalton and Norman Odgers were named by council as voting delegates to the annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities to be held in Victoria.

Ald. W. C. Hamilton, a past president and past vice-president of the UBCM, is a life member of the organization and, as such, will attend as delegate-at-large.

Council hesitated over granting a request from District 70 School Board for reservation of a total of 22 acres as sites for possible schools.

The areas were regarded by Alderman Hamilton as too extensive to be set aside indefinitely for school purposes, unless there are some definite plans for using them.

City Clerk H. D. Thain explained that Trustee John Moadell had been appointed to investigate property which will be used in future school building programs. He said he did not believe the board would require the entire properties and that the reservations were asked merely to assure that there would be city-owned property available from which to select sites.

The question of a time limit on the reservations was discussed and council decided to refer the matter to the finance committee to be taken up with school board.

* * *

Recommendations were adopted by council to make possible the raising of loans by persons building homes from salvaged army huts in Glenwood area.

Rules laid down by the city when the Glenwood subdivision was set aside for reconverted army hut homes were believed to be defeating their own ends. The city clerk pointed out recently that mortgage companies would refuse to lend money for completion of the buildings unless the applicant could present title to the property.

In order that council could maintain control, payment for each lot was spread over a two-year period with title withheld until the final payment was made and the building completed to city specifications.

Recommendations made by Mr. Thain and adopted by council were that purchasers of lots in Glenwood, in cases where they are desirous of obtaining mortgage funds for completing improvements, should be given title on condition that they have paid full purchase price, obtained a permit covering improvements to be constructed, and file a bond with the city in the penal sum of $1,000, and complete a minimum of 80 per cent of the structure in accordance with said permit in the ensuing 12 months.

Cost of putting 12th Avenue through to serve the west lots of the proposed subdivision would be excessive and would not permit approval of the request.

A report from city works superintendent Len Crowshaw indicated that continuing 12th Avenue from Bruce to Neill Street would be between $900 and $1650.

A petition for opening a lane between Anderson Avenue and 14th North on Morton Street and declined, and petitioners will be informed that until city lots on the proposed lane are sold council could not entertain the request.

* * *

On suggestion of Alderman Hamilton, council will study possibility of having signs on Third Avenue North directing southbound traffic turning into Kingsway to the right-hand lane, with traffic continuing up the hill to the extreme left.

Alderman Hamilton also suggested that directional lines be painted to emphasize the directions given on the signs at the intersection.

The superintendent and members of the traffic committee will confer with B.C. Power Commission representatives in an effort to have "no U-turn" signs placed on power poles at Third Avenue and Mar Street.

Alderman Hamilton, chairman of the traffic committee, stressed the hazard at the point, saying "the pedestrian hasn't a chance in the world during rush hours."

* * *

Council as a committee of the whole will consider naming of a court of revision to hear appeals on assessments of lands and improvements in School District 70.

A letter from Premier W. A. C. Bennett asked for submission of three names from which one would, presumably, be selected to act on the board, with two other members representing Alberni and the rural areas.

* * *

Membership of the court of revision, which will be established in each area in connection with equalization of assessment, was outlined in the letter.

It was suggested that names submitted by the council should be those of persons with knowledge, skill, and tact, to weigh the assessment put on property by the assessor.

Problems of a side-hill city were aired at council meeting Monday night when Harold Pitts, 308 Dunbar, appeared to ask consideration of construction of a sidewalk to deflect surface water from the basement of his home. In heavy rains, he said, water comes in a stream from 10th Avenue along North Crescent and eventually runs into his basement.

Works superintendent Crowshaw said a sidewalk and gutter on the north side of the 300 block on Dunbar seemed the only permanent solution to Mr. Pitt's problem. First rains of the season wash debris over traps on the drainage system, and before workmen have time to remove it the flood has started, he said.

Council decided that a petition for the sidewalk under a local improvement plan was worthy of special consideration.

Not only the parks committee, to whom the matter was originally referred, but other members of the council, the deputy fire chief and the building inspector will take part in discussing whether a civil defense fire hut and gas chamber should be erected at Recreation Park.

A request from civil defense secretary H. D. Thain for permission to erect the two huts had been approved, subject to consent of the parks committee, but council members had since voiced objections.

Esquimalt Firemen Forgotten

Firemen apparently were forgotten when Esquimalt municipal officials set dates for holidays for municipal employees this year.

Clr. G. R. Guillemaud informed the municipal council Monday night that no one seemed to know who should take over the job when firemen went vacationing.

He moved that the police chief be asked to set the dates, but Reeve A. C. Wurtele declared, "Surely a resolution by council is not needed. . . . I'll tell him."

"Good enough," replied Clr. Guillemaud.

Wounded Congressman To Visit Puerto Rico

OWOSSO, Mich. (AP)—Representative Alvin M. Bentley, (R. Bentley was the most seriously wounded of five struck by bullets sprayed over the House floor from the gallery.

Oldest Diesel Freighter Still Abounds in Luxury

PORT ALBERNI — The grandeur of the suite once occupied by Danish royalty, handsome paneling of rare hardwoods, impressive winding staircases are some of the features which intrigue 10 passengers reveling in spacious accommodation aboard MS Fionia, oldest diesel freighter afloat which docked in Port Alberni late last week.

The East Asiatic Company's Fionia was built in Copenhagen by the famous firm of Burmeister and Wain in 1913. After 41 years carrying cargo and passengers over the seven seas, she is still a proud looking ship, white paint gleaming, decks scrubbed, her superstructure resembling a floating hotel. The original engines are still in operation and the freighter can attain speeds up to 13½ knotts.

She tied up at Assembly Dock Friday to load lumber for the European market, left Saturday for American west coast ports and will cross the Atlantic to arrive in Copenhagen October 25.

Four hundred feet long, the ship will carry 6,500 tons of cargo. Her appearance, with four masts, no funnels and wide windows instead of portholes, resembles that of a huge yacht.

Capt. J. P. Ostergaard and chief engineer Axel Petersen have both been with the East Asiatic Company for many years. The latter is particularly proud of the engines which have served for so many years.

Featured in the history of the Fionia is the voyage to the Far East in 1927 on which Crown Prince Frederick, now King of Denmark, was a passenger. The staterooms occupied by the Royal guest and his attendants are of interest to the holidaying Americans and Canadians aboard.

Another illustrious guest of the ship's early days was Dagmar, Danish-born Czarina of Russia.

The Fionia carries a complement of 46 officers and men.

The passengers, most of whom came aboard at San Francisco for the round trip, are enthusiastic about the accommodation, the crew, the food and the service.

European-style cooking, Smorgasbord lunch each day and leisurely coffee drinking in the mahogany-paneled lounge contribute to the enjoyment of their trip.

While the crystal chandeliers have been replaced by modern lighting fixtures, the huge dining salon still presents an impressive appearance. Walls and the high ceilings are finished in ivory.

The between-deck foyer featuring the winding staircase, contracts Circassian walnut and Siamese teak, and the various hardwoods used throughout the ship are in the East-Asiatic tradition of widespread trade.

On the passenger list are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brandon, Glendale, California, Mr. and Mrs. George Decard, Berkley; William Thele and Ed Fisher, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Taylor, Vancouver; Mrs. Nelson Cook, Vancouver; and Miss Julia Lopes, San Francisco.

Parksville Garden Club Show Praised as Remarkable Effort

PARKSVILLE — Displays at the annual show of Parksville and District Garden Club were described by judge Tom Barber of Vancouver, as amazing, particularly for this year of scarce sunshine. He commended the club for a fine effort.

There were about 275 enries in the 53 classes.

The show was officially opened by W. A. Paterson, chairman of Parksville village commission. More than 200 persons attended during the afternoon and evening. A display of birds by the Upper Island Budgerigar Society added color to the show.

Mrs. J. T. Coates was in charge of entries, and committee members included W. G. Wheeler, C. W. R. Attwood and T. M. Wilson. Tea conveners were Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. E. Fred Smith and Mrs. A. G. Kimberley and Mrs. F. R. Lock presided at the tea urns.

Holiday Overlap Blow to Resorts

Overlapping of Labor Day holiday and the opening of the hunting season will mean financial loss to many up-Island resorts, George I. Warren said yesterday.

The secretary-manager of the Victoria and Island publicity bureau said the resorts were usually fully booked for the holiday and the opening of the hunting season.

The fact both fall on the same week end this year will mean the resorts will have to turn patrons away, he said.

Third Power Substation Added to Nanaimo Area

Addition of a third power substation of 4,000 kva capacity in the Nanaimo area was announced yesterday by the B.C. Power Commission.

The new unit—like the first two—will transform voltage from 23,000 to 4,000 volts for distribution.

The station will be equipped with modern voltage regulation that will maintain an even voltage and compensate for load fluctuations. Feeder circuits will be controlled by automatic reclosers that will restore service to a line knocked out by a momentary fault.

GREATER FLEXIBILITY

New equipment is to be tied into circuits supplied by the first two to provide much greater flexibility of operation and reliability of service, according to commission officials.

The $120,000 installation is hailed by engineers as another step in improvement of customer service and will provide capacity for future expansion in the rapidly-growing city of Nanaimo.

The new unit, to be installed at the end of Holy Avenue, is four times the capacity of the present substation on Stewart Avenue, which will be removed. First two substations are located at Fraser and Bastion Streets and at View Street and Victoria Road.

Laurelle Law Wins Award

CAMPBELL RIVER — Laurelle Law was announced the first winner of the new PTA scholarship yesterday by Mrs. H. N. Vogt, local PTA president.

The scholarship will be given annually.

Miss Law graduated from high school this year with a 72-per-cent average and took an active part in all school activities. She was also a member of the school council and editor of the annual.

The award winner will enter UBC this fall, with the teaching profession her eventual goal.

Radiotelephone Used Until Cable Is Ready

CAMPBELL RIVER—Radiotelephone equipment is being used temporarily to handle telephone calls between Quadra Island and Campbell River until a new underwater cable is manufactured and installed.

The single radio circuit was placed in service when the submarine cable which connected the island with Campbell River was abandoned as unserviceable.

The new cable is expected to be laid late in the fall.

The telephone cable connecting Quadra Island and Cortes Island has also been out of service and telephone calls from the island have been carried down through Bliss Landing to Powell River.

A new cable is to be placed shortly re-connecting Cortes and Quadra, so that when the new Campbell River-Quadra Island cable is placed, communication between Cortes and Campbell River will be fully restored.

Bigger and Better Fair Due Exhibition Body Discloses

NANAIMO — Vancouver Island exhibition board meeting at Nanaimo Monday tied to[illegible] insure a bigger and better fall fair in the Hub City September 16 to 18.

W. S. Oliver, manager and director in charge of industrial space, says there is still some space available.

The prize list is completed and ready for distribution. New division added this year is that of canaries and budgies. Eric S. Stafford is director in charge.

Because of the limited space, the dog show will be held September 11, a week in advance of the regular fair with James Galloway as director. "Sandy" Forbes of Tacoma, Wash., is to judge the entries.

Other judges are Mrs. Lillian Martindale, sewing, and Miss Winnie McLear, domestic science. A. E. Littler, district horticulturist from Victoria, will judge the fruit and vegetables. W. S. Duff, Victoria, will judge the flowers. Rev. C. McDairmid of Ladysmith will again judge the poultry.

The cattle show will be held at Bevan Park in Northfield. Dr. Wallace R. Gunn, livestock commissioner and chief veterinary inspector for the government, will be cattle judge. Show begins Saturday morning September 18.

The horse show and gymkhana will also be Saturday event at the Bevan property.

Already entries have been received for the amateur contest. This event, another new attraction, is being held in conjunction with Courtenay and Port Alberni. Contestants are reminded that they do not have to live in these centres to be eligible to enter. Only stipulation is that the contestant must be an amateur.

L. A. Hunt was ordered by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane to pay $500 to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Egger. The judge confirmed repudiation of a contract between them in which the Eggers accepted milk from Hunt which later proved to have been watered. Hunt was admonished for submitting declarations to witnesses for the Eggers, setting out what he wanted them to say.

The Eggers agreed to purchase a retail milk business from Hunt serving Courtenay, Cumberland and Comox for $1,500, and further agreed to buy his daily milk output, paying $1,000 on the purchase and agreeing to a price of 52 cents a gallon for the milk.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

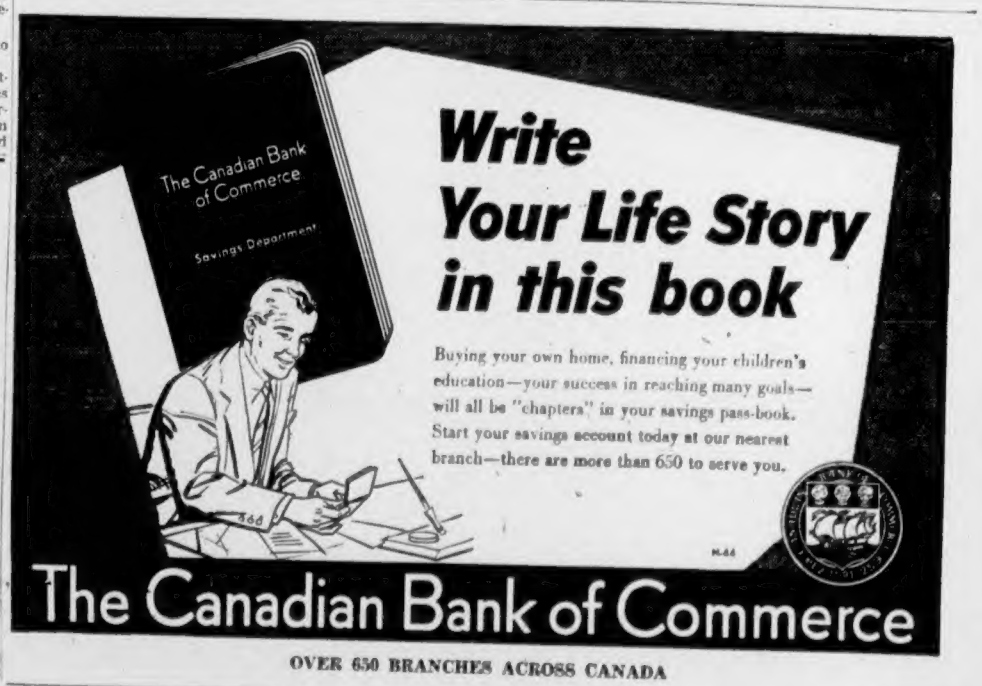

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

Around Town

One-Way Plan Comes to End This Afternoon

The city's one-way traffic system ends at 3 p.m. today after a seven-month trial.

Two-way traffic will resume on Fort, View and Broughton, between Douglas and Government, and on Broad between Fort and Broughton.

Merchants on Fort Street, who were the centre of a controversy on the plan, were still divided in opinion yesterday on the eve of its abolition.

Miss E. Elworthy, proprietor of Peggy Page Candies, 615 Fort welcomed the return of two-way traffic, but expressed disappointment that the bus stop which was located in front of her store until the one-way plan was introduced, will not be returned. (The B.C. Electric has decided against changing its bus routes).

J. A. Burchett, manager of Williamson's Photo and Art Supply, 640 Fort, expressed fear that two-way traffic would result once again in traffic tie-ups on the street.

Roger Monteith, proprietor of a sporting goods shop at 618 Fort welcomed the switch back to two-way traffic and said the one-way scheme should never have been introduced.

Reversion to two-way traffic will eliminate 15 parking places. Parking on the south side of Fort from Government to Douglas will be prohibited from 4 to 6 p.m. daily.

Motorists going west on Fort or View will no longer be allowed to turn left on Douglas.

Contract negotiations for a 15 per cent wage increase have begun between the Empress Hotel and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees.

A two-year contract signed in 1953 provided for reopening only on the question of wages.

Hotel Vancouver employees are negotiating for a similar wage boost and other benefits, including sick leave and other clauses similar to those sought by the employees of national railways.

Earlier reports had said the Victoria hotel employees were also seeking fringe benefits.

A bouquet was tossed to the Victoria Public Library Board yesterday by 11 residents of the Elk Lake area, pleased with the operation of the bookmobile service.

"We find it extremely convenient the librarians (Miss Dora Payne and Edward Anderson) most helpful and the selection and the quality of the books excellent," the residents said in a letter signed by Mary Chaffey, 557 Brookleigh Road, and 10 others.

"We cannot say enough of the courtesy and helpful suggestions made by the librarians at all times," the letter added. "We hope the bookmobile service will continue."

Dining Room Licenses Issued

Three dining room licenses were issued yesterday for the Greater Victoria area by the Liquor Control Board.

They are for the Golden Galleon, an Oak Bay restaurant, and Brenta Lodge and Chez Ernest in Saanich.

The Oak Bay Beach Hotel has already been operating under a dining lounge license and will receive a cocktail lounge license when the premises have been equipped for it.

The Victoria Public Library will continue to close all day Wednesday in September as it has through June, July and August, the library board ruled yesterday.

Wednesday closing was inaugurated this year by the board to facilitate granting of annual holidays to staff members.

Chief Librarian John Lort told the board he had heard no complaints about the Wednesday closing.

J. E. Neely, board chairman, said he didn't think anyone would object to continuing the mid-week closing for another month.

"It certainly would help us considerably too carry it through for another month," he said.

$177,393 Will Probated

A will disposing of an estate of $177,393 left by Cara Maria Castle, who died in Victoria August 13, has been filed for probate in Supreme Court.

Bulk of the estate has been left to her daughters, Dorothy G. Primeau and Ina Ruth Morris of Victoria. Other legacies include $500 to St. Andrew's Cathedral and missionaries of the Franciscan Fathers, Vancouver.

There will be no letter carrier deliveries September 6. That's the Labor Day holiday.

There will be little other business activity in Victoria and district either, on the first Monday of September, with government offices, banks, shops and almost everything but transportation service closed down.

The Victoria Public Library will receive a grant of $10,168 from the Public Library Commission this year. Most of the money will be spent on purchase of new books. The commission's grant last year was $8,865.

Pretty Welcomers Face 6,000 Questions a Day

BY IAN MACDONALD

"Where do I go for fun?" Linda Taylor, five-year-old new arrival in Victoria asked Margaret Gildea, left, Joan Sloan and Dolores Robinson. The young women in the Island publicity bureau know the answers.

"An apartment building?" gasped an astounded American woman.

"No, no, the Parliament Building," corrected Joan Sloan.

"Oh," sighed the disappointed tourist who, for a split second, had imagined herself installed in a cute suite in the quaint old castle overlooking the harbor.

Joan who lives at 2219 Blanshard is one of the pretty young misses in green uniforms who answer the questions of visitors who enter the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

She started work in the bureau in May and likes coping with her share of the 6,000-odd questions that are currently batted around every day during the heavy part of the tourist season.

About 1,000 people are entering the information centre daily, and most have about five or six questions to ask.

FOOD, SHELTER

The girls behind the counter have to be completely impartial in dealing with the two most common queries: "Where can we eat?" and "Where can we stay?"

Visitors are supplied with maps and listings of the various cafes and restaurants. Similar listings of hotels and motels are available.

Time, says Joan, causes a lot of trouble.

Visitors come into the bureau and ask about the times of tours, boats, planes, and various entertainments. They are told, for example, that the Showboat performance is at 8 p.m.

Most of them have their watches at standard time so they are told to remember to add on one hour while in Victoria, or move their timepieces to daylight saving time.

That is fairly simple.

But if they should also happen to make queries about boat or ferry connections, then the fun begins. Back to standard time.

If they have moved their watches forward they are told to remember to take off an hour when dealing with transportation. If they haven't adjusted their time the tourists are told they are fine for the boat but an hour out for Showboat. And so on.

It takes time, but the girls in green usually get everything sorted out.

LIQUOR QUESTIONS

Like many locals some of the Americans don't get the hang of the liquor laws.

One day remembers Joan she was standing thinking about something else when a man asked: "Is it wet up here?"

She looked at him and wondered but glanced out the window in order to give him her opinion of the weather. Then came the dawn.

He just wanted a drink. After the situation was explained, he looked as though he might have changed his mind.

SELDOM STUCK

Many of the real posers are turned over to Miss Kathleen Jones.

One day an ambitious boy entered the bureau and asked: "Have you a map of the world?"

There was a tourist who wondered if he could swim in the Inner Harbor.

There was an elderly character who said he knew where to find oil.

To keep him happy he was given an Island map. He brought out an old pocket watch and let it swing over the map from a chain.

It stopped swinging more or less, over Sooke. According to the diviner there's oil there.

Preliminary Program Laid Out For Big Kiwanis Gathering Here

Approximately 1,500 Kiwanians and their families will be in Victoria for the 35th annual Pacific Northwest District Kiwanis convention, scheduled September 12 to 14.

The Oak Bay Kiwanians, convention hosts, who will be assisted by the city and Victoria North clubs, announced a preliminary program for the big convention, yesterday.

Delegates will attend from all parts of the Pacific Northwest district, which includes B.C., the Yukon, Alaska, Washington, Oregon and parts of Idaho and California.

ONE OF LARGEST

The district, one of the largest in Kiwanis, has 219 clubs divided into 19 divisions, with 11,757 members, while Kiwanis International — the main organization—has more than 3,800 clubs and 228,000 members, in the U.S., Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

DON E. ENGDAHL

Don E. Engdahl of Spokane, president of Kiwanis International; O. E. "Pete" Peterson international secretary of Chicago; C. E. "Tommy Thompson of Redmond, Oregon, district governor, C. H. G. Mann, 2833 Burdick, an Oak Bay Club member and immediate past governor and Harold C. Jones of Portland, district secretary, will confer September 11 in Victoria.

The district board of trustees will meet September 12, and the traditional past governors' dinner will follow.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

On the evening of September 12, Very Rev. Lewis McLean, moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, will preside at an inspirational and memorial service to be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. He will be assisted by Rev. Douglas B. Carr and Major Walter Oakley.

Rev. F. E. H. James will deliver the "inspirational address" and the "In Memoriam" ceremony will be conducted by Gilman O. Reinstead of Tacoma, past governor.

Business and instruction sessions will be held September 13 and 14 with the theme of the convention "Build by Faith, Loyalty and Service."

GOVERNOR'S BALL

The governor's reception and ball will be held September 13 and banquets honoring newly-elected officers will be held in the Empress Hotel ballroom and the Crystal Garden ballroom the following evening.

Mr. Peterson will give the main address at the banquets.

Tom C. Moulds is general chairman for the convention, and Mr. Mann is co-chairman.

WOMEN'S PLANS

Arrangements for the ladies are being made by Mrs. Beverly A. Smith, convener, Oak Bay; Mrs. Andrew Stewart, Victoria, and Mrs. Alfred W. Atherton, Victoria North.

Details of the official program will be released shortly according to Oak Bay officials.

Members of the executive committee and other convention committees will meet at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow in the Tudor Room of the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, following the regular Kiwanis dinner at 6:15 p.m.

Big Prize Offered

Showboat May Founder Unless Tickets Bought

Victoria's Showboat may run onto financial rocks unless more citizens come to the rescue.

While many thousands have enjoyed the free entertainment provided in the Inner Harbor, relatively few have purchased $1 tickets with which it is hoped to make the venture a financial success.

An $800 all-expense trip to the Yukon will go to the holder of the lucky ticket drawn first at Friday night's final performance. Other prizes will also be awarded.

"The Showboat will prove a very costly experiment to its devoted committee unless a considerable number of tickets are sold in the next few days," states Charles M. Nelles, chairman of the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the project.

He points out that while the group is willing to assume the loss, it will have to think of the Showboat as a failure.

"This, I personally feel, would be a tragic result when contrasted with the many words of praise the Showboat has had from visitors for whom it was designed," says Mr. Nelles.

Showboat has been proof that Victoria wants to entertain its visitors, he adds.

Six Unsuccessful Tries Preceded Dawley Flight

Former Victorian Clifford Dawley, elusive Oakalla prison-escape artist, continued to foil his pursuers Tuesday despite a widespread manhunt stretching from Vancouver to the U.S. border and beyond.

While hundreds of police and prison guards combed the area yesterday, prison officials disclosed that Dawley had made six unsuccessful attempts at escape from Oakalla last week.

Earlier this year Dawley, son of a former Esquimalt police chief, escaped from custody by jumping out of a hospital window in Vancouver while undergoing treatment for a sore back. He was recaptured in Montreal a few weeks later.

Recently released Oakalla prisoners said that Dawley was the man chosen by drug czar George Mallock to engineer his escape attempts. Mallock now is serving 28 years on a narcotics conspiracy conviction.

COMMON KNOWLEDGE

Dawley's determination to escape was common knowledge throughout the prison, a released convict said.

He was scheduled to face a charge at Nanaimo September 7 of being a habitual criminal.

During the last few days guards foiled Dawley's attempts to dig and cut his way out of his cell. Guards removed hack saw blades and digging tools.

The first 24 hours search after Dawley dashed through an Oakalla piggery to freedom was centred south of Vancouver to the U.S. border.

UNSUSPECTING CYCLIST

An unsuspecting motorcyclist told police he gave a ride to a man answering Dawley's description but his passenger insisted he be let off in the middle of Pattullo Bridge. He was last seen walking back toward New Westminster.

Shots were fired Monday night at another rider who failed to hear a warning call from two prison guards.

The motorcyclist sped off at 70 miles an hour and explained later he was afraid of a hold-up when the police car tried to edge him off the road.

Irish Gift Looked In Mouth

It would cost approximately $25,000 to bring Dublin's metal and marble statue of Queen Victoria to this city.

J. Courtney Haddock, manager of the Woodward Ltd. store here, has been testing public reaction to the acceptance of the Irish gift.

"We don't think anybody cares," he said.

City council accepted the gift but not the expense of transport. That aspect is still under study, Mr. Haddock said.

Discussion Of Project To Resume

Talks between Premier W. A. C. Bennett and officials of Frobisher Ventures and Reynolds Metals Co. will resume in several days, a government source said yesterday.

The conferences over a vast hydro-metallurgical development in the Atlin Lakes area of B.C.'s northland have been going on in the premier's office for several days.

Thayer Lindsley, head of Frobisher Ventures, and Louis Reynolds, vice-president of the New York metals firm, have left Victoria but will be back again soon.

Frobisher has already been granted a conditional water license to tap the resources of the Atlin Lakes chain for a hydro development and iron, steel, nickel and manganese smelter project.

POSSIBLE PARTNERSHIP

Mr. Reynolds whose firm is said to be considering buying 50 per cent of Frobisher's electrical energy or even a partnership with the Canadian company may build an aluminum smelter in the Taku Inlet area which will rival the huge Alcan development at Kitimat.

Mr. Reynolds said his engineers have gone up to the area to study possible locations for a plant. He said the Reynolds company was studying participation in the Frobisher scheme, but no firm agreement had been reached.

"Her People Rejoiced" will be the main feature Thursday at the final showing of movies this summer at Beacon Hill Park band shell.

Screening time is 8.30 p.m. In event of rain the films will be shown in the Public Library music room at 7.30 p.m.

The series has been presented by Victoria and District Film Council and the library.

Reception Plans Made for Mayhew

Civic and municipal dignitaries will greet Hon. Robert Mayhew, Canadian ambassador to Japan, when he returns home tomorrow to retire from a long career in business, politics and diplomatic service.

Acting Mayor Frank Mulliner of Victoria, Reeve Fred Norris of Oak Bay, Reeve A. C. Wurtle of Esquimalt and Acting Reeve George Austin of Saanich said yesterday they would be at HMC Dockyard when Mr. Mayhew arrives aboard the frigate HMCS New Glasgow at 4:30 p.m.

It was not known last night if a provincial government representative would also attend.

Army gunners will fire a 19-gun salute as the New Glasgow approaches Esquimalt Harbor.

Mr. Mayhew is entitled to the salute as one of the honors due his diplomatic status, since Hon. T. C. Davis has not officially taken over the ambassador's post in Tokyo.

The former Victoria MP and long-time federal minister arrived in San Francisco yesterday aboard the U.S. liner President Wilson and is due to meet his son Logan in Seattle today.

The two will board the New Glasgow in Seattle tomorrow morning. The frigate and her sister ship, HMCS Stettler, are in Seattle on a training cruise.

Mr. Mayhew has accepted an invitation to a public luncheon in his honor September 1, sponsored by Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Mayhew accepted by radio sent through a ship bound for San Francisco from Japan.

Lort Named Library Chief

John Lort, appointed acting chief librarian last May following the resignation of Miss Thressa Pollock, was confirmed as chief librarian yesterday by the Victoria Public Library board.

J. E. Neely, chairman, said Mr. Lort was selected over 34 other applicants.

Pring Removes Name From By-Election List

R. J. Pring, Cedar Hill Cross-road, has dropped from the possible candidates for the Saanich September by-election.

Mr. Pring said last night he will not run in September . . . but there are still elections this fall he added.

Mr. Pring was defeated last December in a by-election for a one-year seat by Councillor Robert Fleming.

A telegram may be forthcoming this week from Regina, seat of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada annual convention which Percy Rayment is attending.

Mr. Rayment is expected to decline nomination for the by-election. Edwin Haw, secretary of the CCL Labor Council, may accept the Saanich nomination in that event.

R. M. Grant, a naturopath, is the only person so far to enter his name as candidate.

Students Study United Nations

Seven Greater Victoria high school students will attend the Canadian United Nations Association seminar for students August 30 to September 4 at UBC. They are Ernest Watchorn and Sandra Parton, sponsored by Oak Bay Kiwanis and Oak Bay High School; Dick Pomeroy and Noel Boston, sponsored by Victoria Rotary Club and Victoria High School, and Myrna Hunter, John Dunick and Valerie Gould, sponsored by Victoria UN Association. Seen above with Dr. Peter G. Mar, UNA executive, are (left to right), Miss Hunter, Miss Parton and Noel Boston.

Group To Run Stall

A six-member group under the direction of Mrs. Sidney Penny, 661 Dallas Road, has been appointed to take over operation of the famed free food stall in the Victoria public market.

Mrs. Barbara Green, who founded the distribution operation four years ago, will leave Victoria September 1 to live in Vancouver.

But she will be on hand Saturday and will help if necessary.

Other new directors, who have assisted at the stall for some time, are Mrs. Norman Williams, 2595 Dalhousie, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Peter Nielsen, 1304 Carnsew, head of volunteer workers, Mrs. F. F. Harper, 323 Island Highway, who will accept donations at the telephone number 9-4256, and Miss Joan Bartle, 2078 Marne, in charge of publicity and acquiring of supplies.

VOLUNTEER NEEDED

Mrs. Green said a volunteer is needed for the job of sorting out supplies coming in on a stall day, and recruits should telephone 4-3720.

All donations to the stall should be made to Mrs. Harper from now on, and the Victoria & District Trades and Labor Council has offered to do pick-up and delivery work this week.

Country assembly points are the Black Swan Coffee Shop, Elk Lake; Prospect Lake Store and McMorran's, Cordova Bay.

For Joy Bryan

A miscellaneous shower to honor Miss Joy Bryan, RN, whose marriage to Mr. William C. Georgeson takes place early in September, was given by Mrs. J. Kerr, Cedar Hill Cross Road. Miss Bryan, with four fellow graduates of Dublin General Hospital, Miss Violet Lalor, Miss Olive Stacey and Miss Gerry Smith, came from Ireland and have been nursing at Royal Jubilee Hospital. A corsage bouquet of red rosebuds with white heather and shamrocks was presented to the bride-elect while Mrs. J. Delamere, who acted as proxy for her mother, Mrs. P. Bryan, received a carnation corsage. The pretty gifts, concealed in an Irish "Paddy Hat" topped with a golden harp were handed to Miss Bryan by Miss Gerry Smith. A tiny "leprechaun" standing on a large shamrock leaf centred the refreshment table backed by a bouquet of pink and white carnations and shamrocks. Miss Violet Lalor and Miss Olive Stacey poured tea and coffee. The guests were Mrs. R. Renaud, Mrs. R. Oakley, Mrs. W. G. Fraser, Mrs. R. M. Stokes, Mrs. P. Bishop, Mrs. G. Callan, Miss B. Richards and Miss T. D'Argis.

To Be Married September 8

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jamieson, Whitehorse, Y.T., announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosemary B. Condin, to Mr. Hugh Joseph Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Grant, Edson, Alta. The marriage will take place at St. Andrew's Cathedral on September 8 at 10 a.m. The bride-elect has chosen as attendants, Miss Patricia Grant, sister of the groom, maid of honor, Miss Joan Capling, and Miss Gladys Tremblay, bridesmaids. The groom will have his brother, Mr. Anthony Grant, as best man.—(Photo of Miss Condin by Goertz and Mr. Grant by Leonard Holmes.)

Motoring to Fairbanks After Marriage Here

Rev. Father M. Costello celebrated the nuptial mass in St. Andrew's Cathedral on Saturday morning when Bernadette Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lineham, Richardson Street, was joined in matrimony with Bernard Francis Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Smith, Honsedale, Pennsylvania.

White gladioli and ferns decorated the church and were arranged by Mrs. D. E. Danes. Miss Marguerite MacKay played the organ music.

The attractive bride wore a gown of white embossed taffeta, off-the-shoulder style, gored ballerina-length skirt and jacket with lily point sleeves. A white feather hat and a bouquet of pink rosebuds, stephanotis and white heather completed her ensemble. Mr. Lineham gave his daughter in marriage.

The brides two sisters attended her, Mrs. David Sloan as matron of honor and Mrs. Robert Taylor, bridesmatron. They wore identical costumes of irredescent taffeta, off-the-shoulder princess style and ballerina length. Mrs. Sloan was in a golden shade with a bouquet of bronze gladioli and Mrs. Taylor chose blue with flamingo-toned gladioli bouquet.

Mr. John Newman was the best man and Mr. L. P. Griffin and Mr. R. Schmidt of Everett, Wash., were ushers.

A reception followed at the bride's home where the rooms were decorated with salmon-toned gladioli and ferns. The bride's table, covered with a cut work cloth was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with pink rosebuds in a silver vase. Mr. George Scott proposed the toast.

After a honeymoon up-Island and Seattle Mr. and Mrs. Smith will motor up the Alcan Highway to Fairbanks, Alaska, where Mr. Smith teaches school. The bride's traveling costume was a dress and duster coat in golden shade with white accessories and corsage of gardenias.

When baby reaches the toddling stage, it is inevitable that he'll receive some bumps and bruises. It's not possible, or wise, to shield him from every hurt in the world, as he learns by experience. However, you can shield him from very real dangers especially in the kitchen. Be sure all pot handles are turned inward on the stove. Better yet, cook only on back burners when baby is up. Plan your stove-top cooking, as much as possible, for baby's in-bed or in-playpen hours.

Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

Q. When at the table and someone asks you a question while you have food in your mouth, should you answer promptly and try to manage the food at the same time?

A. No. Wait until the food has been swallowed. Say, "I'm sorry," then answer the question. This is much better than trying to talk with food in the mouth.

Q. Is it correct to write a note of condolence on the typewriter?

A. This is not considered acceptable. It indicates much more thoughtfulness and sympathy to write such a note by hand.

Q. When filling the water glasses at the dinner table, how much water should be poured into each glass?

A. The glass should be two-thirds full, never more.

Tea Roses For Guest

Miss Margaret Bevis was honored recently at a surprise shower given by Miss Lois Richardson at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. J. McInnis, 3055 Carrol Street. A corsage of yellow tea roses was presented to the bride-elect along with the many gifts. Guests were Mrs. Nora Mitchell, Mrs. Joyce Menzies, Mrs. Corrie Hutchison, Mrs. Jean McInnis, Mrs. Beverley Wellburn, Mrs. Betty Beak, Mrs. Gladys Ruff, Mrs. Bert McCallum, Mrs. Elaine Peters, Mrs. Scotty Eaton, Mrs. Jean Ord, Mrs. Clara Rickman, Mrs. Margaret Tront, Mrs. Dorothy Caton, and Misses Pat Westwood, Mavis McCahill, Mildred Holmes, Dorothy Smith, Ethel Shepherd, Jean Currie, Elizabeth Patterson, Audrey Miller, Dorothy Jaynes, Marilyn Berry, Dolly Strugnell and Kay Nairne.

The CCF Women's Council will meet at the home of Mrs. M. Campbell, 1740 Fort Street on September 8 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Ord-Lindsey Rites In Belmont United

A profusion of gladioli, sweet peas, and shasta daisies formed a lovely background in Belmont United Church Friday evening for the wedding of Joan Muriel Lindsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Lindsey, 2210 Lydia Street, and Edward Henry Ord, son of Mrs. Ord, 1026 Topaz Avenue, and the late Mr. James Ord. Dr. F. E. H. James performed the ceremony, during which Miss E. Ransom played organ selections, including "I'll Walk Beside You."

The bride chose a ballerina-length gown of delicate embossed organdy over bridal satin, featuring a stand-away collar, lily-point sleeves, and an inset of misty illusion net over satin on the bodice. Her illusion net veil cascaded to fingertip length from a small satin and organdy cap touched with orange blossoms and her jewelry was the groom's gift of pearl necklace and earrings. Red roses and swainsona formed her bouquet.

As matron of honor for her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. Lindsey chose a robin's egg blue gown styled like the bride's but with short sleeves and an inset of blue lace on the bodice. Her cap and mitts were of blue lace, and her bouquet was of pink carnations and heather.

Mr. R. I. Dunn was best man, and Mr. Thomas Ord and Mr. Denny Hubbard ushered guests to pews marked with colonial bouquets of sweet peas and gypsophila.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lindsey, 1525 Richmond Avenue, which was decorated with gladioli and sweet peas. Guests were welcomed by the bride's mother, in a two-piece dusky rose dress, navy accessories and corsage of white carnations and heather, and the groom's mother, in a navy crepe ensemble with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations and heather.

Illusion net and sweet peas surrounded the three-tier wedding cake, and the toast was proposed by Mr. L. Jickling.

After a honeymoon on the Island and the Mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Ord will live at 1026 Topaz Avenue. The bride traveled in a dark grey suit flecked with gold, gold shortie coat, gold hat with black patent quill, black patent purse and shoes, and a corsage of yellow gladioli and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Docksteader Honeymoon in Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lloyd Docksteader are spending their honeymoon in Hawaii following their marriage on Friday morning at Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

The blonde bride, Mary Ila Maud Houghton was a charming picture in her waltz-length full-skirted frock of nylon net over taffeta with bodice and jacket of Honiton lace. A juliet cap of the same lace encrusted with pearls held her chapel length veil of tulle and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli and ivy.

The Rev. Father LeSan per[illegible] the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Houghton Scarborough Road and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. (Pete) Docksteader of Vancouver.

Miss Diane Houghton was her sister's maid of honor wearing a ballerina-length dress of white embroidered alpaca and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations, sweet peas and ivy. Miss Deanna Docksteader, sister of the groom, and Miss Gloria Tepoorten bridesmaids, were identical frocks of white alpaca and carried pink carnations, sweet peas and ivy. The trio had pink feathered headdresses and pink shoes.

Mr William Docksteader was best man for his brother and ushering were Mr. Donald Climie and Mr. William Gardner.

During the signing of the register Mrs. J. Q. Gilan sang "Panis Angelicus." Mrs. Gill was organist.

At the reception in the Duke of Kent Room at the Empress Hotel guests were received by mothers of the couple. Mrs. Houghton wearing a china blue taffeta coat Dress blue accessories and pale pink rose corsage and Mrs. Docksteader in a pale pink figured dress navy accessories with pink stole and corsage of gardenias. Col. J. Q. Gilan proposed the toast to the bride.

For traveling the bride donned a buttermilk toned Handmacher dressmaker suit hat and gloves to match and tan accessories. On their return from Hawaii Mr. and Mrs. Docksteader will make their home at 6386 F Boulevard, Vancouver.

Palace Rites Unite Couple

In the Bishop's Palace of St. Andrew's Cathedral, Rev. Father M. Costello performed the ceremony on Friday evening uniting in marriage Rose Barbara Wolooski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Fischer, Saskatoon, Sask., and Mr. Selmer Byre, son of Mr. John Byre of Port Moody, B.C., and the late Mrs. Byre.

The bride wore a rust-colored suit with white accessories and white carnation corsage. Mrs. H. E. Wood, the attendant, chose a carbon blue suit, white and navy accessories and red carnation corsage.

Mr. H. E. Wood attended the groom.

A reception for close friends was held at Hampton Hall where a two-tiered cake centred the bride's table. Mr. George Ludlow proposed the toast.

Mr. and Mrs. Byre will make their home at 2709 Bridge Street.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Fischer of Saskatoon, and Mrs. J. Byre and Mrs. A. Byre of Port Moody.

Langford Party Honors Bride

Mrs. Stuart Carr, the former Joan Guiney, was the guest of honor recently at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. T. Thorpe, 20 Millstream Road, Langford.

The many useful gifts were concealed in a gaily decorated box and refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Don Lowe and Mrs. Len Jacobs. Miss Barbara Glenn entertained the guests with selections on her piano accordion.

Guests were Mrs. M. Guiney, Mrs. W. Henderson, Mrs. J. E. Glenn, Mrs. V. McTavish, Mrs. L. Jacob, Mrs. D. Lowe, Mrs. C. Price, Miss K. Wannamaker, Mrs. D Moseley, Mrs. Carol Irvin, Mrs. W. Edmonds, Mrs. E. Legebokoff and the Misses Pat Kilpatrick, Joyce Price, Lynne Hedstrom, Barbara Glenn and Mary Thorpe.

Members Welcome District Deputy

Daughters of England, Lodge Primrose No. 32, met recently in the Orange Hall with Mrs. B. Shipley presiding.

Mrs. G. M. Baker, the new district deputy, was welcomed to the meeting.

Tentative plans were made to hold a fall bazaar and it was reported that a successful garden party had been held at the home of Mrs. Shipley.

Party Given For Niece

Mrs. R. Glenn and Mrs. M. Irvine, 2803 Cedar Hill Road were co-hostesses at a shower for their niece, Miss Gloria Slater. Corsages were presented to the guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. R. W. Salter, and to the mother of the groom-elect Mrs. E. Orr. Guests were Mrs. L. Cooper, Mrs. D. Bacon, Mrs. W. Edmonds, Mrs. J. Glenn, Mrs. J. Hamm, Mrs. G. Orr, Mrs. A. Thommasen, Mrs. R. Ruhins, Mrs. Marchant, Mrs. Kennedy, and the Misses L. Irvine, P. Salter, B. Wilms, S. MacKie and V. Klemens.

Expedition Climbs Nameless Mountain

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—An Australian-German expedition was reported Monday to have conquered an unnamed 25,000-foot mountain in the Karakoram Range of the Himalayas. Reports reaching here said two members of the team, Marti Schlosser and Dolo Meyer, reached the summit August 1. The mountain is located across the Pakistan border in Tibet.

TV Talk

By ROY PARRETT

Several tests have been completed by local technicians to find out if reception of KTNT-TV can be restored in areas where it was lost following the station's move to Harper Wash.

Quite a few TV fans, particularly in Oak Bay, lost their favorite station when the change-over took place. Others received the station for the first time.

Almost everywhere KTNT-TV is received with a ghost, even in areas where the signal is strong.

The power boost is a let down to thousands of viewers who were used to perfect reception from the popular CBS outlet.

Tests here indicate that there is little to be gained by rotating TV aerials as suggested on KTNT-TV announcements. The new transmitter is on almost the same line as before.

Antenna crews failed to restore reception on Channel 11, even by moving TV aerials in most of the areas tested over the week end.

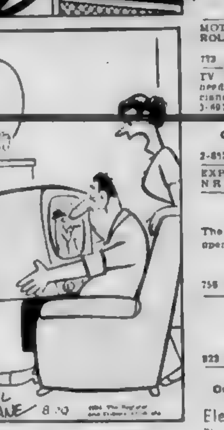

The signal just isn't there, probably because of the altered pattern radiated by the new 12-bay antenna at the KTNT-TV transmitter.

SECURITY LARGE RETURNS GRACIOUS LIVING

Well-known hotel in one of Vancouver Island's larger fast-growing cities, a hotel which enjoys a steady year-round clientele of commercial travellers, government men, etc. The return and net profit from this hotel are far larger than one would expect from so little an investment.

The hotel is situated in a lovely setting; a river flows past the front door. Briefly here is what this hotel will do for you: Give you approximately $10,000 cash annually plus paying off $3,600 annually on the mortgage of which approximately [illegible] Very [illegible] light, heat, laundry, phone, insurance, in fact everything except food and clothing. $3,600 pays off mortgage in approximately six years. All work handled by 1½ chambermaids. Very little work for the owners. This hotel could be run by a manager alone if desired. There is practically no structural changes necessary if a cocktail lounge were desired. This is a genuine proposition, we invite your fullest inspection. Honestly this is an extra special opportunity. Owner will accept first mortgage or good property as part payment. For copy of brochure, etc., contact

Marwell Gets PGE Contract

Contract for 7.3 miles of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway roadbed north of Horseshoe Bay has been awarded to Marwell Construction Co.

Marwell's bid of $936,455 was the lowest of four tenders opened by Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd. The minister also announced that tenders [illegible] PGE roadbed south of Britannia.

This leaves only a 1,400-foot gap near the Britannia townsite for which tenders have yet to be called. The 1,400-foot section will be a viaduct. Engineers have not yet decided if it will be concrete or steel.

PACIFIC GREAT EASTERN RAILWAY COMPANY
CONSTRUCTION DEPARTMENT
Construction of Railway, Vancouver to Squamish, Mile 17.5 to Mile 32.5
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed Tenders, marked "Tender for Construction of Pacific Great Eastern Railway Vancouver to Squamish—Mile 17.0 to Mile 32.5" will be received by the Construction Committee of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company, at the office of the Minister of Railways, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C. up to 12 o'clock noon, Monday, September 13th, 1954.

Contract documents and plans may be obtained from the office of the Company's construction department, foot of Rogers Avenue, North Vancouver, and at the office of the Deputy Minister of Railways, Douglas Bldg., Victoria, on deposit of a sum of Twenty Dollars ($20.00), made payable to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company, which will be refunded upon return of plans, etc. in good condition within a period of one month of the receipt of tenders, except in the case of the successful contractor where the plan deposit is not refundable.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque made payable to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company, for the amount of $100,000.00. This deposit shall be forfeited if the tenderer declines to enter into contract or if he fails to complete the work contracted for.

The cheques of unsuccessful tenderers will be returned to them when the contract has been awarded.

Tenders must be made out on the forms supplied, and enclosed in the envelopes furnished.

The successful contractor must carry out the work in strict conformity with the contract and specifications. He will not receive any subsequent adjustment or settlement beyond the terms of the contract.

No tender will be accepted or considered that contains an escalator clause or any other qualifying conditions.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Hon. W. R. T. Chetwynd,
Minister of Railways.
K. M. Gunderson,
Vice-President.

U.S. Fishermen Seek Government Protection

Low Canadian fish prices are blamed by Boston fishermen for this scene of immobility on the Boston waterfront. Union leaders are petitioning the government to protest the cut in wages brought on by lower prices and to ask that a heavier duty be charged against Canadian fish entering the U.S.—(Central Press Canadian.)

BERN (AP)—The Swiss government said Monday it has requested the recall of a foreign vice-consul in Geneva, who, it said, engaged two Swiss private detectives to collect political and economic information, in violation of Switzerland's strict espionage laws. The vice-consul, unidentified, involved in the case has left Switzerland, it was said.

Retired Executive, C. E. Sanders Dies

A prominent Canadian business man who retired to Victoria 10 years ago, Clarence Edgar Sanders of 1555 Despard Avenue, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital last night after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Sanders, formerly manager for Canada of the Atlas Assurance Company, London, England, had celebrated his 76th birthday August 10.

Prominent in sports, he once was a member of the Canadian team which took part in an international seniors golf tournament in England.

Mr. Sanders, who was born in Stayner, Ont., was predeceased by his first wife, Mrs. Pearl E. Sanders, January 1, 1953. He later married the former Miss Adelaide Rivers of Montreal.

Survivors include his widow, at home; a sister, Laura, in Vancouver, and three brothers, C. D., Vancouver, and Alfred S. and George W., both of Toronto.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Hayward's Funeral Home.

Tillicums Bow in Opener; Fosters Lead Cup Series

Joe Fosters jumped into the lead in the senior "B" men's softball Colonist Cup competition at Heywood Avenue Park last night by trimming city champion Tillicums, 7-1, in the opening game of a best-of-three series.

Second game will be played Thursday night at Heywood Avenue Park at 6.30.

Tillicums scored their only run in the second inning and made the lead stand up until the fourth, when Fosters got two runs. The winners knocked starter Mark Cunningham out of the box with a five-run outburst in the sixth frame to clinch the well-earned win.

Jack Girard pitched steadily for the winners as he held the clubmen to seven hits.

Linescore follows:

		R	H	E
Fosters	000 205 000	7	7	0
Tillicums	010 000 000	1	7	3

B.C. Weekly Judged Best In Its Class

TORONTO (CP)—A British Columbia weekly newspaper won all three awards for papers with a circulation of 2,000 to 3,000 at the 35th annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association Tuesday.

The Abbottsford, Sumas and Matsqui News, published by Cecil Hacker, won the Gertrude A. Dunning Trophy for best all-round paper, the P. George Pierce Trophy for the best editorial page and the Frank Howe Beattie Memorial Shield for the best front page.

Victoria Flier Advising U.K.

A Victoria officer, Wing Cmdr. Vernon Crompton Woodward, DFC and Bar, has been appointed to an advisory post in the British Air Ministry.

His mother, Mrs. Dorothy Woodward, lives at 1588 Fairfield.

Wing Commander Woodward joined the RAF in 1939, and rapidly became an air ace with 21 enemy planes to his credit.

He has been flying jets in the RAF's fighter command.

The Courtroom Parade

Bootlegger Goes to Jail

Lee Fook, 1944 Oak Bay Avenue, was sentenced yesterday to six months at hard labor for bootlegging.

Lee had entered a plea of guilty last Friday in city police court, and was sentenced yesterday by Magistrate A. I. Thomas. Police said a 12-ounce bottle of rum had been sold to a plain-clothes officer at 550 Fisgard Street for $3.50.

Court was told that Lee was convicted of the same offense in 1952, under another name.

Arthur R. Kay was fined $300 or 30 days in jail in city police court yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of unlawfully recording horse race bets.

Police testified that August 16 they found racing sheets and recorded bets for the day at the rear of 715 Pandora Avenue.

* * *

Andre J. Comeau, a cadet at HMC Dockyard, was fined $25 or five days in jail in police court on pleading guilty to exceeding a 30-mile-an-hour speed limit on Hillside Avenue.

Comeau was given a suspended sentence for failing to produce a driver's license on the same date.

* * *

Robert Coates, East Sooke Road, pleaded guilty before Magistrate A. I. Thomas in Provincial Police Court at Colwood yesterday to "using a registered timber mark for marking of timber other than that in respect of which the timber mark was issued." He was fined $50 and $3.50 costs.

Information was laid by the Langford forest rangers.

Service Extended

Mailboxes Needed By September 8

A big increase in the amount of mail in two sections of Greater Victoria will result in extension of letter-carrier service by the post office on September 8.

R. F. Reid, postmaster, said yesterday the areas, in View Royal and Esquimalt, will receive one delivery daily—but warned 90 per cent of the homes must provide proper facilities for delivery.

The View Royal section starts at the interesection of Helmcken and Heddle, along Prince Robert Drive to the Island Highway, down the highway and along Jedburgh to Helmcken, including the highway between Jedburgh and Helmcken. The area was previously part of Rural Route No. 1.

ARMY QUARTERS

The second extension area is the army married quarters adjacent to Work Point barracks. Mail for the 130 homes has been distributed by the army.

A letter explaining the change-over has been delivered to each home, and states each home owner must provide the proper mail receptacle, door number and pathway.

Residents in the two sections who are not qualified to receive the new service will be required to collect mail at the general delivery wicket at the main post office.

Library Board Turns Down Bid for Grant

Request of the Victoria and District Film Council for a $100 grant was refused yesterday by the Victoria Public Library Board.

Chairman J. E. Neely said the board had no power to make grants. The request had been referred to the board by city council.

Mr. Neely said the board might buy some movie equipment which the film council could use.

"We could help them and the community by so doing," he said. "We're going to do everything we can to maintain our good relationship with the film council."

The question was referred to a special committee of the board for further study with representatives of the film council.

Martin Opens New Hospital

Health Minister Eric Martin will officially open a new $430,000 hospital at White Rock today.

The 45-bed structure was started in November, 1952.

The provincial government contributed $236,000 towards the cost, the federal government $50,000 and the community the remainder.

Mr. Martin will be accompanied by BCHIS officials Donald M. Cox and Lloyd Detwiller.

MAO ASKS ATTLEE TO COOL OFF U.S.

Rumors Persist Engagement Is Close

For weeks rumor has been persistent in Britain that Princess Margaret will soon announce her engagement to Colin Tennant, with whom she is shown here. Though her 24th birthday came and went with no confirmation of the rumors, the belief still persists that they will wed. — (Central Press Canadian.)

Wants Help With Fleet

Labor Party Visitors First To Meet Red China's Boss

PEIPING (Reuters)—Mao Tse-tung urged Clement Attlee and his touring British Labor Party group to exert their influence for withdrawal of the U.S. Seventh Fleet from the Formosa Strait, a reliable source said Tuesday night.

In the first face-to-face encounter between Communist China's top leader and any Western statesmen, Attlee and the seven members of the British Labor Party delegation conferred for three hours with Mao in the heart of the ancient walled city of Peiping.

THREE POINTS

Three major points were raised by Mao in the talks, the source disclosed.

Besides withdrawal of the Seventh Fleet, Mao wants the Britons to tell the United States to call a halt to American arming of Japan and West Germany and to relax generally what the Chinese leader labeled unreasonable anti-Communist policies of the United States.

Mr. Attlee and his Labor Party colleagues sat at a long table with Mao and his advisers, sipped bowls of fragrant tea and discussed world affairs.

It was the first audience granted to ranking Western statesmen by the Chinese Communist chief of state since his regime came to power in 1949.

After the talk—climax of the Attlee party's goodwill tour to Red China and Russia—a delegation spokesman, Morgan Phillips, issued a brief statement which said that a variety of subjects "of mutual interest" were discussed. These included the international situation and East-West trade.

"The discussions were very frank throughout and the meeting ended in an atmosphere of cordiality and expressions of goodwill," his statement added.

RETURN VISIT

A well-informed source said before the meeting that Mr. Attlee was expected to mention to Mao the Labor Party's desire to have Chinese and Russian leaders visit Britain. Mr. Attlee was reported to have expressed similar sentiments to Premier Chou En-lai earlier, and to Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov when he stopped off in Moscow on the way here.

Other subjects which may have been discussed include the proposed Southeast Asia defense pact, the status of Formosa and China's desire to join the United Nations.

Mao met them in the reception hall of China Cheng Tien, near the southwest corner of Peiping's Forbidden City, former home of the Chinese emperors.

Duchess, Daughter Begin Canadian Visit

The Duchess of Kent, left, and her 17-year-old daughter, Princess Alexandra, began their three-week visit in Canada at Quebec where Governor-General Massey and a 100-man guard of honor greeted them. It was the first time either had set foot in Canada.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Union's Ouster Stands

Get Rid of Reds, Fishermen Told

REGINA (CP)—The Red-led fishermen's union of British Columbia was denied re-admission to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada Tuesday, but its members were told they could get in by shaking off Communist influence.

Leaders of the 6,000-member union, suspended from the congress a year ago, failed in an appeal to the TLC annual convention against the suspension imposed by the congress executive.

The effect is to open the way for the break-up of the fishermen's union through the congress taking over—by direct charters from the TLC—those divisions of the union that want to get back into the central body.

INVITATION ISSUED

A recommendation from the TLC officers' reports committee, on which the convention acted, extended such an invitation.

"We would welcome either the whole organization or any division of it willing to abide by the constitution of the TLC," said the recommendation. The constitution has a clause barring unions officered by Communist sympathizers.

The convention action was the latest in a long series of congress moves against Red influence in unions during the last four years. Until its suspension last August, the fish union had been the only major survivor among Red-tinged groups in the TLC.

The most important Red union in the TLC, the Canadian Seamen's Union, was thrown out earlier and since then has almost disintegrated. The right-wing Seafarers' International Union took over.

PLEA FOR REINSTATEMENT

The SIU was accused Tuesday by Homer Stevens, general secretary of the fishermen's union, of trying to muscle in on his organization with the connivance of the TLC executive. He charged TLC president Percy R. Bengough with declaring "open season" on the fishermen after the suspension.

"Double talk," was the veteran Bengough's retort after Stevens made a 35-minute appeal for reinstatement.

Stevens, Labor-Progressive (Communist) Party candidate for Burnaby-Richmond in the last federal election, taxed the congress executive with stifling freedom of political thought and using the tactics of Hitler.

"I don't hear any mention of Joe Stalin," Bengough replied.

The 71-year-old president, who hails from Vancouver, said he is convinced the majority of the fishermen's union officers are believers in the Communist philosophy.

EDC Decision Vote Avoided

PARIS (Reuters)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France announced Tuesday night that he will not stake the life of his government on parliamentary approval of the six-country European army treaty.

He told newspaper men after a cabinet meeting that his government had agreed not to call for a vote of confidence when ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty comes before parliament Saturday.

This meant, in effect, that Mendes-France would ask the National Assembly to vote on the treaty but would not recommend approval as a government policy.

Mendes-France had spent four hours of crucial discussion with the cabinet on his government's stand on EDC ratification.

After the meeting the premier said, "We must not allow settlement of the EDC question to be delayed any longer."

During the cabinet meeting several ministers threatened to resign. But after Mendes-France agreed to take a neutral stand in the European army debate the rebellious ministers agreed to go along.

The premier told his ministers he will neither oppose nor recommend ratification of EDC when he goes before the National Assembly. He agreed to restrict his role to give the deputies the "fullest information" on the six-country Brussels conference and subsequent high-level talks.

Later he told reporters his government "will oppose any motions submitted to the assembly aimed at delaying a decision" on the treaty.

He said the assembly debate will be taken on a report from its foreign affairs committee, which recommends rejection of the treaty.

Sailors Get Six Strokes Of Strap

Naval disciplinary action awaits two young deserters from HMCS Ontario who were sentenced in Vancouver yesterday to six strokes of the strap each and a combined total of 66 months definite and indefinite in prison.

The sentences were handed out to Tony Farrington, 19, and Martin Wise, 17, following the iron-bar beating of a taxi driver in Vancouver last week.

Both men were said to be deserters from HMCS Ontario.

Farrington was sentenced to 18 months definite and 18 months indefinite on charges of robbery with violence and Wise was given one year definite and 18 months indefinite.

Hospital attendants said the taxi-driver, Benjamin Morris, needed 56 stitches to close the wounds on his head. The sailors robbed him of $15.

Morris managed to call over his radio telephone that he had been assaulted and was "bleeding to death."

Laborite Invited To U.S.

SEATTLE (UP)—The World Affairs Council of Seattle yesterday invited former British prime minister Clement Attlee to come to Seattle and "See America too."

The invitation was sent to Mr. Attlee, now visiting in Red China, via British officials at Hong Kong.

Council president Payne Karr said the invitation was sent to give the British Labor leader a chance to "clear the air" around his visit with the Communist Chinese at Peiping.

"Popular concern over British Labor Party attitudes toward Communism makes this an admirable opportunity for gaining first-hand information on matters vitally affecting us," the invitation said.

Karr said a Seattle visit would assure Mr. Attlee an "important platform for promoting better understanding between English-speaking peoples."

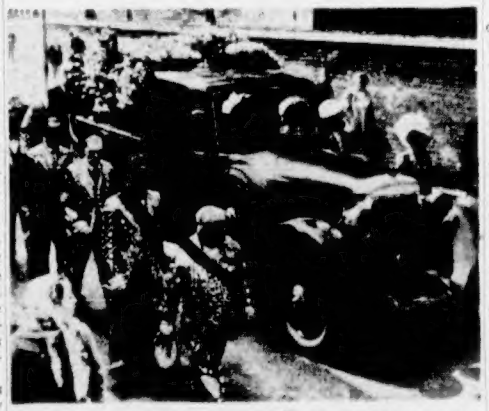

$40,000 Given To Stratford

NEW YORK (CP)—The Rockefeller Foundation Tuesday announced a grant of $40,000 to the Stratford Shakespearian Festival of Stratford, Ont.

The grant, payable to the Stratford Shakespearian Festival of Canada Foundation, is on the basis of $1 for every $2 obtained from Canadian sources.

The Shakespearian festival was inaugurated by Stratford in 1953 with the encouragement of many Canadians interested in cultural development.

Violence Flares Up in Brazil After Suicide of President

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Violence involving both Communist and anti-Communist mobs flared across Brazil yesterday after President Getulio Vargas fired a bullet through his heart when the nation's high military brass forced him to resign.

A number of persons were reported killed by gunfire in Brazil's big southern city of Porto Alegre, and demonstrations crackled through several other cities.

The suicide of Brazil's 71-year-old strong man was an explosive climax to the two-week-long crisis over the murder of an air force major during an attempted assassination of an anti-Vargas newspaper editor.

Police and angry demonstrators were reported to have exchanged gunfire in riots at the Atlantic port city of Porto Alegre, leaving two dead and 26 injured. In Rio, two persons were injured.

REDS SUSPECTED

There were reports that some of the attacks—many of them against U.S. firms or those thought to be owned by U.S. interests—were inspired by Communists.

But there were other reports of attacks on the Communist newspaper Gaucho.

The raging mob smashed into the U.S. consulate in Port Alegre, 670 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro, and damage was reported heavy. Another U.S. consulate at Belo Horizonte in eastern Brazil was reported smashed by a Communist-led crowd.

A crowd of several hundred tried to surge past some 200 troops guarding the U.S. embassy here in Rio.

NIGHT QUIET

As night fell in Rio the demonstrations ended. Armed guards and cavalry continued to patrol the streets.

Rioters accused the United States of fomenting the government crisis that led to Vargas' dramatic end.

At Sao Paulo, mobs attacked shops that refused to close down.

Most places of business in Rio were quickly shuttered.

In the capital, crowds converged around the Senate, where police once fired into the air to disperse them.

One riotous mob turned its ire against Carlos Lacerda, the crusading anti-Vargas editor who was the assassin's target. Offices of Lacerda's newspaper, Tribuna Imprensa, were attacked Tuesday and copies of the paper were burned in the streets.

Lacerda was reported under armed protection.

HOLLOW VICTORY

Vargas' ouster turned out a hollow victory for Lacerda, who had repeatedly demanded the president's resignation.

Lacerda was considered a front runner for the October 3 congress elections, but with the suicide of the widely-popular old strong man, his chances dwindled and he is now considered a liability to his party.

Eisenhower Signs Bill To Ban Communism

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday signed legislation outlawing the Communist party in the United States. He said the measure is a reflection of U.S. determination to smash conspiracies aimed at "violent overthrow of our entire form of government."

The president's action also wrote into law a provision for a crackdown on Red-infiltrated labor unions.

The administration did not ask Congress to enact the Communist outlawry bill, and it had made no secret of misgivings that the legislation might drive Reds further underground.

But Eisenhower, in signing the measure Tuesday at his vacation headquarters here, made no mention of any misgivings.

"The American people," he said in a formal statement, "are determined to protect themselves and their institutions against any organization in their midst which, purporting to be a political party within the formally accepted meaning, is actually a conspiracy dedicated to the violent overthrow of our entire form of government.

"The American people likewise are determined to accomplish this in strict conformity with the requirements of justice, fair play and the constitution of the United States . . ."

Case Dismissed After Fiery Plea

SACRAMENTO (AP)—James Henry Stafford Tuesday won dismissal of a careless driving charge against him by presenting a fiery defense.

"My pants were on fire," he told Judge J. Louis Missall, in explaining why his car rammed the back end of another vehicle August 13.

"Case dismissed," said Judge Missall. "I think I would be driving without due caution, too, if my pants were on fire."

Stafford said he dropped a cigarette in his lap while driving and as he was trying to put out the fire, the car in front of him stopped suddenly.

All Records For Halibut Now Falling

SEATTLE (AP)—The International Pacific Halibut Commission reported Tuesday all records for halibut catches on the Pacific Coast are being broken this year.

Landings this year already have reached 68,000,000 pounds, or about 8,000,000 more than landed in all of 1953.

The commission said it expected the catch by November 15, closing halibut date, should exceed 69,500,000 pounds.

This would exceed the 1915 record of 68,750,000 pounds when the fishery was still exploiting virgin stocks in the Gulf of Alaska.

The commission credited its part in controlling the amount of fishing with improving the stocks and making fishing more profitable.

Place Urged For Layman On Council

EVANSTON, Ill (AP)—The election of senior officers in the World Council of Churches was delayed until tonight after a move took shape to place a layman among the six presidents.

It was announced at the start of Tuesday night's session that a request signed by more than six delegates had been received and that the signers suggested a layman or laywoman be given a place on the presidium.

Dr. Martin Niemoller of Germany then offered a motion to postpone the election for 24 hours. It was approved, 158 to 146.

His motion had the effect of instructing the nominating committee to restudy its slate with a view to possible inclusion of a layman. It did not order the committee to change the slate.

Confidence Vote On EDC Avoided

PARIS (Reuters)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France announced Tuesday night that he will not stake the life of his government on parliamentary approval of the six-country European army treaty.

He told newspaper men after a cabinet meeting that his government had agreed not to call for a vote of confidence when ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty comes before parliament Saturday.

French Canada Tour

Royal Party Gets Taste of Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—The Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra Tuesday visited three historical establishments whose origins go back to French colonial times.

In one busy day the royal visitors were able to get a glimpse of French Canada's social, religious and educational institutions in their almost-intact, original settings.

They read old documents, fingered historic relics and tasted Quebec food.

VISIT MONASTERY

The duchess and her daughter visited the 315-year-old Ursulines monastery, lunched with the direct descendents of a French "seigneur" at a manor estate 40 miles southwest of Quebec, and were received at Laval University.

For their engagements Tuesday the duchess wore a white-and-black silk dress and a broad brimmed black hat with black accessories while the princess wore a fawn-colored dress and hat.

The duchess displayed restrained emotion when she was shown her husband's signature in the monastery guest book and asked for a pen. Slowly she wrote out "Marina" under the duke's signature.

The duke died in an air crash August 25, 1942.

SALMON, CHICKEN

Lunch was at the manor of seigneur Alain Joly de Lotbiniere, at Pointe Platon, where 18 guests served by seven domestics dined on Canadian salmon and chicken in the vast dining hall of the century-old manor, located on a 189-square-mile seigneurie created in 1672 by Louis XIV of France.

Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec, chancellor of Laval, greeted the duchess in the university courtyard near the little seminary built by Quebec's first bishop, Monseigneur de Laval, almost three centuries ago.

Duchess, Daughter Begin Canadian Visit

$40,000 Given To Stratford

NEW YORK (CP)—The Rockefeller Foundation Tuesday announced a grant of $40,000 to the Stratford Shakespearian Festival of Stratford, Ont.

The grant, payable to the Stratford Shakespearian Festival of Canada Foundation, is on the basis of $1 for every $2 obtained from Canadian sources.

The Shakespearian festival was inaugurated by Stratford in 1953 with the encouragement of many Canadians interested in cultural development.
